W. R. C. Hallowe'en Party

Numbered among the social events of Hallowe'en was a party held at Legion Hall, for the members of Edward Seaman, W. R. C., and their families, Saturday evening.

The hall was decorated in yellow and black with festoons and Hallowe'en emblems in keeping with the day.

The guests came masked and in fantastic costumes, which created much merriment as their identities became known. Games and stunts enlivened the hours until supper was served, including in the menu warm maple syrup and hot biscuits. A fine musical program was enjoyed in which a number of songs of "yesterday" were sung in chorus by the company. A trio, including whistling selections by Alfred Larson, with Master Lyle Zimmerman of Hornell playing the flute and Miss Eva Rennells piano, responded to several encores during the program. Vocal solos were finely rendered by Irving Gilfillan and by Miss Katherine McCaffery of Rexville, Mrs. James McDonough at the piano, also a dancing number by Martha McDonough.

The party, in charge of Mrs. Irving Gilfillan, was nicely planned and carried out and the delicious maple syrup, a most generous gift from Mr. Gilfillan, thoroughly appreciated. The decorations in the hall were arranged by the members of the Junior Corps.

Cross-Cut Saws

Atkins Crosscut Saws are made under a special formula which imparts smooth, lasting qualities to the steel, comparable to razor steel. Only Atkins Saws and Tools are made of silver steel and no saw is a genuine Silver Steel Saw unless the name is plainly etched on the blade. All good saws are heat treated by gas, followed by immersion in oil. This treatment prevents any hard or soft spots from appearing on the blade and helps it to retain its cutting edge. All Atkins Silver Steel Saws are taper ground, the blades resemble an inverted wedge, and the gap cut by the teeth is sufficiently wide to permit the balance of the blade to drop naturally into the cut without excessive set, and with no possibility of binding or buckling. Tension is imparted to Atkins Silver Steel Saws by smithing and blocking, and Atkins Saws are given a high polish, thus insuring a fine quality of Silver Steel.

We also stock Simons Crosscut Saws—See us and we will solve your "saw problems."
