Pay Out Five, Get Back Ten

Planting Trees Means That in Terms of Dollars, Says Forester.

"Pay out five dollars and get back ten dollars" is what can happen to farmers who plant trees on those steep hillsides this spring, according to Professor J. A. Cope of the Cornell Agricultural Extension Service. The State will supply sturdy transplants at four to five dollars a thousand, he says. The farmer supplies the labor to plant the thousand trees on an acre. Since tree planting is a soil-building and soil-conserving measure, the Federal Government, thru the Agricultural Conservation Program, will pay about ten dollars for each acre so planted.

"Since two men can readily plant an acre a day, it means the entire expense of starting a forest on unused farm land is done without cost to the farmer." Many farmers have reported they would be glad to set out trees if they could only be relieved of paying taxes on this planted land, according to Cope. He says this looks like a better proposition than tax exemption. "In fact, if I didn't have any other open land, I would be tempted to fence off an acre or two of pasture and give this tree planting a try-out."

The State offers a wide variety of species, and order blanks are on file at county farm bureau offices. Cornell bulletin E-226, "Forest Planting on the Farm," gives general help on selecting species and proper planting methods. It may be had free from the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

LITTLE BITS OF HUMOR

Agreement

A colored maid answered the phone—"Yas'm," her mistress heard her say. "Yas'm," said the maid a second time. Then she added, "It sho' am," and hung up. The telephone rang again, and the girl made the same replies. "What kind of conversation was that, Lucy? What did they want?" asked the mistress. "Well," answered the maid, "dey asked if dis was de Jones house an' I say 'Yas'm,' an' dey ask if Mrs. Jones am home, an' I tol' 'em yas'm. Den dey say, 'Long distance from Washington and I say 'It sho' am.'"

Young Johnny Sponsonby is only ten and so doesn't know much about international politics, but he spoke far more wisely than he knew when his school teacher asked him to explain what a treaty is.

"A treaty," he said, "is a fight between two nations."

Twice Blessed

The visiting Sunday school teacher asked a nice little girl what the Lord had done for her. The reply was: "He gave me a good father and mother and a nice home. Another little girl was asked the same question. She had long curly hair and was decidedly pretty. Her answer was: "The Lord gave me these nice curls and a good teacher."

The next child questioned was a little freckle-faced, bowlegged and cross-eyed boy. "Well, my little man, what did the Lord do for you?"

"He almost ruined me, lady."

The Misses Gwendolyn Hammerwood and Sarah Ketchum, who are getting to that point in years where the question of finding a man to tie to is getting darned serious, were discussing the matter rather intently: "Now what would you like most in a husband," asked Miss Gwendolyn. "Brains, wealth or appearance?"

"Appearance," was Miss Sarah's sharp reply, and the answer to the latter.

New Nickel Will Be Issued Feb. 21st

The Buffalo nickel which has been in use for the past 25 years will be succeeded by one honoring Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States.

According to law, a new nickel design can be issued only every 26 years. That period will be up Feb. 21. The new nickel will show Jefferson's face on one side and his famous home, Monticello, on the other.

This does not mean that the present Buffalo nickel will not be worth five cents. In time it may be worth more as a museum piece.

Labels on furniture sold in New York State must tell the kind of stuffing used for the body and the cushion: whether the stuffing is new, old, or second-hand; if the stuffing has been sterilized, and if it is hair, down, feathers or wool.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Ask your doctor or pharmacist for Doan's Pills. Ask your druggist!
