TAKE A BOW

After having carefully looked over and studied school papers from surrounding schools, I have arrived at the conclusion that our school paper can stand among the rest without any need of fear.

Most of the schools with which we have exchanged papers publish monthly mimeographed copies, with the exception of Richburg, which publishes as we do; Bolivar, which publishes both a weekly publication and a bi-weekly mimeographed copy and Friendship which has both the weekly and monthly system.

Our school is smaller than some of the others with which we have exchanged papers, but the untiring work of each member of the Hi Herald staff has helped to make our paper worth while and not inferior to those from other schools.

Considering that we publish a paper every week and that our staff is comparatively small, it is commendable that we are capable of producing a copy which is on a level with some of those published once a month.—Editor.

Science Students Visit Alfred

Thursday evening, March 17, Alfred University held its annual open house in connection with its "St. Pat" celebration. The open house, which was largely attended, lasted from 7 to 10 P. M. and consisted of many demonstrations and exhibits.

Following a marked route through the ceramics buildings the visitors saw viscosity testing, the testing of gases given off during oxidation, a complete story of pottery making from the stone used to produce the clay to the shaping, baking and finishing of the pottery, art work done in connection with the study of ceramics, glass blowing and many other exhibitions of interest to everyone. Most of the things shown in production were articles used or seen every day.

The annual demonstration of ceramic work is always interesting and instructional. It serves as a welcome addition and supplement to a high school course in chemistry or physics and many high school students throughout Allegany county make use of this opportunity to acquaint themselves with the type of work that is being done in college today.

Those attending from Andover, Basil Brundage, Charlotte Cook, Anna Hardy and Regina Richardson report a very satisfactory and worthwhile trip and they are looking forward to another visit to Alfred next year.

Grade News

Katherine Perry Wins Spelling Contest

Katherine Perry, eighth grade pupil, outspelled the other members of her class and the seventh grade in a contest between the two grades held Friday afternoon in the eighth grade room. Katherine was followed closely by George Prue, who came in second. Both will represent Andover in the county spelling bee which will be held at Belmont in the near future.

The second grade finished their study of Holland Friday afternoon, with a party at which they had genuine imported Holland cheese from Rotterdam.

Arthur Hall, pupil of the first grade, left Andover to attend the Shovel Hollow District school.

Craig Snyder is still suffering from an attack of the mumps. He is a fifth grade student.

A St. Patrick's Day radio program in charge of Leona Clark was given by the English students of the sixth grade on Thursday afternoon.

In the seventh grade the China Clipper is leading the Spirit of St. Louis in the arithmetic race.

Tests indicate that bending takes about four times as much energy as standing.

Marion Swartz Wins First Place

Marion Swartz, a member of this year's graduating class, won the first prize of three dollars in an oratorical contest sponsored by the American Legion. The contest took place in the Andover High School auditorium Friday, March 18. Marion's topic, "Let Not the Ancient Landmarks be Removed," was unusually well written and was delivered in the excellent style for which she is already well known in this section.

Marion emphasized the fact that the Constitution is one of the greatest documents in history and that the debt we owe to the men who composed it is great indeed. She also pointed out that our forefathers would be proud if they could have lived to see the results of their splendid efforts, this wonder country of today.

The second prize of two dollars was awarded to Clyde Briggs, whose address was entitled, "Our America."

The third contestant, Thelma Ahrens, delivered a speech on "Americanism and the Constitution."

One or both of the winners will compete in a county-wide contest in the near future.

The judges of the contest were Rev. Lucien Kerns, William McGee and Lawrence Host. The prizes will be awarded commencement night.

Point System For Girls Inaugurated

A "point system" for high school girls with appropriate letter awards will be started in Andover High School this spring, according to an announcement made in assembly by Principal Glenn E. Bretsch.

The system of awards was explained by Mr. William McGee who was the originator of the idea which gives to girls an opportunity of earning an award similar to the awards given to boys for athletics.

According to the rules of the system, any girl who attains at least 300 points during one year is eligible to receive a letter award.

The points are awarded as follows:

The Knitting Club

The knitting club met last Tuesday, March 22 at 3:30. It was agreed that as well as knitting, other related work such as, washing and blocking sweaters, pressing skirts and planning and buying knitted goods would be taken up.

Nearly every member of the club can knit but very few can make different types of stitches. Everyone has started her project and most of the girls are well under way with a sweater or other knitted article.

Bowling Activities

The Andover bowling team found itself outclassed Monday night of this week, when it bowled the Alfred team which has second place in the league. The first two games were fairly close, with margins of only 28 and 24 points respectively for Alfred, but during the third game Alfred rolled exceptionally well to a total of 894 pins. Baseball Meeting Is Held

At a baseball meeting last Thursday the baseball players talked over the possibilities of a successful team this year. It was agreed that Andover would have a green team since practically all the team graduated last June. It is not definitely decided what league Andover will be in but the competition promises to be hard regardless of what section we are with.

The first practice was held Monday night with about 20 players reporting. Coach Bill McGee has started practice early this year to get the new team in shape. Each player is given a chance to try out for the position he likes best and for which he is best fitted. There is going to be both a first and second team.

A money making proposition is going to be put in later to raise money for new suits for the team. It will be announced in the paper in a few weeks.

Senior Play

"The Phantom Bells," a three-act play, will be presented by members of the Senior Class on Thursday and Friday evenings, March 31 and April 1. The ghosts from the play prophesize that "the greatest April fool's trick you could receive would be to miss this great presentation. Hence, if you do not wish to be greatly fooled, come to the Senior play."

To curb your impatience until the "big night" arrival, here are a few words of the dialogue taken from the play. May they inspire you to come away from your fire-side to sit by that of the House of the Phantom Bells:

Harriet: "Well, I'm giving you fair warning, Mrs. Rhodes—if I see anything here that even faintly resembles a ghost, I'm going to beat it so fast you won't see my heels for dust!"

Darrel: "About as well as I ever expect to feel, Laura, which isn't saying much when one considers that I'm only half a man."

Laura: "I don't want his fortune. All I want is—is my father back with us! Oh, Jack. Isn't it horrible. He'll never come back again!"

Miriam: "I'll look."
Darrel: "Better be careful."
Miriam: "I'm not afraid."

Victor: "I was unjustly accused. I was innocent."
Lela: "Darrel! Darrel! Speak to me! Oh!—he's dead!"

Mrs. Rhodes: "I gave your father my youth, Laura. In return he gave me nothing. Didn't even mention me in his will. I deserved something—"

Jack: "Laura, I'm going to take you away from them. Far away—where we'll be happy together. Oh, I won't take your money. I won't need it. I'm in line for a perfectly grand job and—"

Joe: "Oh, it's all right. I'm not going to steal it. Here. You see folks, I'm a dick."

Ned: "That will have to go back to the bank, of course. I shouldn't have taken so much for granted. I should have made him give me a written order. But I have his power of attorney and I was used to his eccentricities."

Our Homemakers

Dresses on the Way!

Andover's Easter Parade will be second only to Fifth Avenue's when the girls in the Homemaking A classes have completed their next project, which is to be the making of dresses.

Careful preliminary work including a great deal of study of methods will be necessary before scissors are actually put to cloth, however.

The Home Economics A girls will soon have finished their dresses, which they started two weeks ago. By Easter both classes will be ready to parade in costumes of their own making.

Successful Play Day Here

Andover High School was host to about 80 girls from Wellsville, Allentown and Whitesville in the play day program held here on Saturday afternoon, March 19th.

The group of girls was divided into four teams, distinguished by colors each of which elected a captain. The teams then competed for points in volleyball, shuffleboard and table tennis. The "yellow" team, captained by Josephine Butler, won the greatest total of points and each member was awarded a prize.

Refreshments were served in the Homemaking house after which dancing was enjoyed until about 5 o'clock. The student chairman of the play day program were: Syble Winchell, refreshment; Marion Burgett, program; Charlotte Cook, games; Charlotte Coryell, preparation of games. The faculty sponsors were Miss Catherine Killigrew, Mrs. Margaret Joyce and William McGee.

Senior Play Skits In Assembly

On Tuesday morning, March 29 at 9 o'clock an assembly will be held in the auditorium.

The characters from the Senior play "The Phantom Bells" will be introduced to the pupil audience for the first time. The spectators will then see these characters in action in a few short scenes taken directly from the play.

Come and see the introduction of the characters and you will no longer doubt the necessity for your seeing the play which will be produced Thursday and Friday evenings, Mar. 31st and April 1st.

Senior Interview

The Class President

One of this year's outstanding Seniors is the class president, Doris Evelyn Honegger. She was born in Andover Dec. 7, 1920 and has always lived here and attended Andover High School. Her favorite subject, and one in which she particularly excels, is mathematics.

Listening to the radio, dancing, roller skating and basketball are her favorite forms of recreation. She likes to see Gary Cooper and the prime favorite of Andover High, Sonja Heine, in the movies.

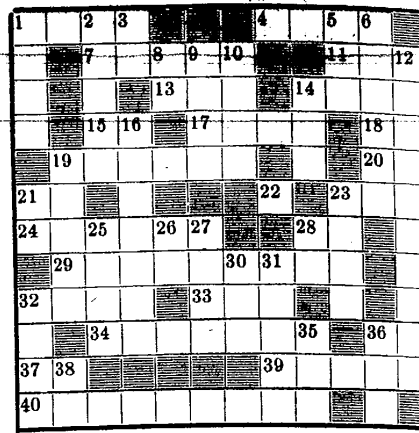

Doris' school activities include a wide scope. Besides being an earnest and conscientious class president she is on the Library Council, a very satisfactory member of the Hi Herald staff and belongs to the Girls' Glee Club. During her four years in Andover High School her name has been on the honor list consistently.

Next year Doris plans to take a post graduate course and then will continue her education in preparation for grade teaching.

Dairymen interested in producing better hay at less cost may find Cornell bulletin E-181 on meadow improvement valuable. Single copies may be had free from the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.
