Local Happenings

Trout season opens Saturday.
George Baker is building a house on the corner of Grove and Baker streets.

Twenty-five cent supper at the S. D. Baptist church Tuesday, April 5. Your patronage will be greatly appreciated.

The busiest and most popular place in Andover on Tuesday mornings is the welfare office on Greenwood street.

The Home Bureau will meet with Mrs. H. E. Robinson, Thursday, April 7th. The first lesson on "Home Lighting" will be given.

Miss Roberta Church, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Church of this village, was honored by being elected captain of the Genesee varsity basketball team.

At the amateur show given in Andover as part of the "St. Pat" festival a second prize was awarded to the senior quartette of which Wisner Cook of Andover is a member.

The residence on Greenwood street, formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ingraham, has recently been wired for electricity by the Homecoming of Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Johnston of Richburg celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter, Mrs. E. R. Cady. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston have spent all but one year of their married life in Allegany county.

The Board of Education of Bath High School plans to adopt a new system in employment of teachers the coming year. No contracts will be offered. Instead teachers will be advised of their appointment to teach.

The O. E. S. Circle met at the home of Mrs. Harry Smith Friday. Mr. C. S. Rennells, chairman of the work committee, gave out work to be done by the members. Mrs. David Slocum gave two fine readings on the program. Refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Charles Hammond and Mrs. Ernest Theetge.

Baker's Hardware News

FISHING!
Of course, we all like to go fishing, and Saturday the season opens again—so get your equipment ready. We have Hooks, Lines, Sinkers, Bamboo Poles in any length and so stock up and be ready for the first day.

Carborundum POCKET HONES
What is more provoking than using a dull knife?
The Carborundum Company has solved the problem by offering you a pocket size hone—just right to carry in any pocket, and always ready to sharpen that dull knife in a jiffy. Price 20c.

COCOA MATS
In front of outside doors, keep the mud and dirt out, and save your rugs and floors from the unnecessary tracking which they are otherwise bound to get in the spring of the year. Price $1.00.

REMEMBER THAT
A Radiant Gas Heater will give you all the heat required—for these in-between-season days—and will incidentally save on the fuel bill.—Priced as low as $7.50.

DECAL TRANSFERS
Dress up those plain painted walls as well as adding a decided decorative note to your painted furniture. Include them on your list of paint supplies.

Arling R. Baker - Andover, N. Y.

Floyd Cartwright of East Valley is improving from a long illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Ruger have rented the Mrs. J. L. Williams house on Dyke street.

Supervisor E. A. Mullen received word of the serious illness of his brother, Archie Mullen in Canistota this week.

When the underwear begins to itch so early in the year, it is going to be pretty hard to keep it on until the first of May.

The new million dollar hospital at the Veterans Facility in Bath opened its doors March 21st. The new hospital has beds for 409 patients.

The Belfast Chamber of Commerce has asked each housewife to demand a card signed by the committee before buying or subscribing from any agent.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Claus of Rushford were very pleasantly surprised when 50 neighbors and relatives entertained them in honor of their 55th wedding anniversary on March 21st.

Reports from Washington reveal that Secretary Ickes has blocked the shipment of helium gas to Germany despite the fact that tank ships from Germany are docked in the Gulf of Mexico to take away the supply.

While the columnist that writes "Wandering Willie" to our knowledge never worked on the railroad in the days of the old hand car, he has been getting a little of that training on an automobile pump of late.

Congress has asked the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government of which Frank E. Gannett is chairman, to release all written records of every kind to be audited. Perhaps this is the cause of so much upheaval in Washington.

Attica's veteran prognosticator "Uncle" Henry Hiller, for over 40 years, states he "does not expect any more heavy snow, only short showers with plenty of warm sunshine following and an extremely dry period from now till July 4th, making grass and forest fires a real hazard."

A surprise party was given little Janet Lang Saturday in honor of her first birthday by the following: Mrs. Hattie Eggleston, Mrs. Martin Hoyer with Mrs. Charles Reynolds of Franklinville and Mrs. Sam Kaple of Buffalo. The little lady received many nice gifts and a birthday cake.

Bolivar's municipally owned water department, after nearly two years of successful operation by that village, is providing the finest water system the town has ever had. Technical experts declare the Bolivar water system is superior to that of any similarly sized town in Western New York.

Those not attending the O. E. S. birthday party held at the hall Tuesday night missed a rare treat, both in regard to the 12 beautiful cakes representing the months of the year and the artistic ability shown in decorating the card tables to correspond. The guests enjoyed a musical program in the singing of old songs.

Mrs. Orville Kupp entertained the Gay Luncheon club at her home Wednesday.

Justice Frank A. James has contributed $500 towards the library furnishing and equipment in the Rushford Central School.

Mrs. John Quigg and Mrs. Max Richardson will be hostesses for the card party which will be held Tuesday, April 10th at Blessed Sacrament hall.

Commissioner Rennells and his gang of workmen have removed the large poplar trees on South Main street, giving the street a broad clear view but a nude appearance. Poplar trees planted on or near any street grow to be a nuisance as the roots buckle the sidewalks and in other ways do damage.

Charles A. Harnett, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, announced the following licenses have been revoked or suspended in the two-week period ended March 19: L. M. Moore, Wellsville, license revoked, driving while intoxicated. Garfield Black, Wellsville, license suspended for six months; Mabel Lehman, Wellsville, license suspended 15 days for reckless driving.

WASTINGS

from "Wandering Willie"

MANY, lurid and loud were the cuss-words around Main street last week when the limb of a tree hooked on one of the electric lines and put a part of the burg out of commission. We were probably the winners in the cussing contest, as we were just going to press when out they went. When the village boys have any more trees to lower we hope they find some place where there are no electric wires, or pick a spot so far away it won't bother us. But all is forgiven "Cy."

THE Wellsville Democrat "Grief" column has been having a lot of fun lately running bits of poetry etc., sent in by folks feeling sorry for the author and who help him out in filling his column, so we will copy after his style and run the following which was handed us the other day and which we thought pretty keen:

"Compendium"
I haven't read Anthony Adverse;
I haven't read Gene With the Wind;
By these awful omissions I know that
Against Literature I have sinned.
The sociological novel's
Deep search in the problems we face,
To me is exposed much more plainly
In a volume of breath-taking space.

This book that I find so absorbing,
That puts them all back on the rack,
Is the fat and the factual opus:
The Annual World Almanac!

Its pages abound in statistics;
It rattles off figures galore;
It's loaded with items and data
And wonders I long to explore.

For instance, do you know the name of
The peaks of the French and Swiss Alps?

Or which the Comanches liked better
The blond or the red-headed scalps?

How much is a Chilean peso?
And what is the worth of a franc?
Is a Siamese second lieutenant
Above a grimalkin in rank?

Did Delaware raise any onions?
What is the corn crop of Maine?
Where is the Paleozoic?
What is the weight of your brain?

I set out in search of the author,
To herald this modern-day sage,
I found him secluded but happy,
And we talked thru the bars of his cage.

IT'S wonderful the opportunities that are offered us each week by Andover folks to tell something on somebody, advertise something, give somebody merry heck and oh dozens of things.

This week we're supposed to help keep the agents, peddlers, meter readers, collectors and other public agents or representatives from coming in the front doors, walking all over the nice new house-cleaned polished floors of the Andover ladies and leaving a trail of the good old terra firma all over the place. All we can suggest is go to the back door if they have one.

OH, YES, the Giddings-Lang case. You'd never guess! Yep, another postponement. Several of the boys, ourselves included, had a couple cases of Coco-Cola bet on the outcome of the fray, but some of them are getting mighty dry waiting for the actors to act.

THAT doggone "weiner" business popped up again this week when Ernie Andrus ran across the word spelled with an "ie" from a packing house in Buffalo. We wish some one would come to our rescue and tell us just how the blamed thing is spelled in American. The dictionary doesn't give it, and all the newspapers and magazines spell it with an "ei". Fifty thousand printers can't be wrong so we'll still say "ei" regardless of what the Buffalo packing house has to say.

SOME of the folks around town wonder every time the fire siren cuts loose how "Bus" gets into those white milk-plant pants of his so quick. The siren just nicely gets under way good when about mid-way down Main street up pops those white pants and comet-like, streak for the fire hall. Just how do you do it, "Bus?" We have often wondered too.

The ladies of the S. D. Baptist church invite you to a 25 cent supper, Tuesday, April 5th.
