LET'S WATCH OURSELVES

Fellow Classmen; I know that we are all inclined to play pranks on "April Fool's Day," but let us not carry those pranks too far. Let us avoid the dangerous pranks of thumb-tacks, the destruction of property. Keep to the simple fun-making pranks. Let's watch ourselves to see that we do not overdo the fun. There is a place for everything but when a good thing is carried too far it is worse than nothing at all.

Senior Interview

Bowling Activities

The Andover bowling team took the Belmont team for three points Monday night, Mar. 28. Belmont, over-confident after winning the first game by 101 pins, lost the second game by only five pins and were outclassed in the third game to lose by 105 pins. This gave Andover two game points and secured also the match point by the narrow margin of only nine pins.

Preview of "The Phantom Bells" Given

Thrills! Chills! Laughter and drama ran hand in hand Tuesday morning in the assembly program, during the preview showings of the forthcoming senior play "The Phantom Bells."

The audience sat glued to their seats as mysterious events unfolded before their eyes and ended in a burst of excitement to leave them wondering if—???

With green eyes blazing, black-widows descending, footsteps clumping into the room, it is little wonder a few white faces were seen as the pupils went back to their studies.

The cast of this brilliant play which you will not want to miss consists of:

George Joyce as Jack Page, Laura's sweetheart.
Charlotte Cook as Laura Rhodes, the daughter.
Henry Antan as Vic Levalle, rival for Laura's hand.

Donald Hardy as Joseph Kennedy, a detective.
Doris Honegger as Mariam Booth, a secretary.
Carol Burdick, called Caruthers, a lawyer.
Thelma Ahrens, as Lela Styles, a nurse.

Charles Burgett as Harry Capron, an invalid.
Katherine Barber as Patricia Forbes, ponicky maid.
Marian Swarts as Mrs. Laura's step-mother.

Dramatic Club Meets April 6th

After several weeks of retirement the Dramatic Club will again resume their bi-weekly meetings with a meeting in the Andover High School gymnasium Wednesday evening, April 6th.

Monologues and dialogues will be presented by Miss Josephine Cappuccilli, faculty director of the club and members of the club.

Definite plans will be discussed for the formation of a new dramatic club.

Grade News

Mr. H. L. McCann and Mary McArn of Wellsville visited the first grade Tuesday afternoon. The first graders are making a sand table entitled, "Our Feathered Friends Are Wings of Spring." Pictures of different kinds of birds are pasted on the blackboard above the sand table.

The second grade pupils are studying about Indians. Each pupil made a tepee from clothsheets. Elsewhere in this paper is found a story about Indians written by Joanne Theetge.

The fourth and the eighth grades were invited to the sixth grade radio program entitled "Safety First" last week, during their English period. Helena Smith is in charge of the radio program this week.

The seventh graders made pictograms showing the production of cattle, sheep, fish, and many other animals in various countries.

The China Clipper is ahead, almost back to Andover, the starting place on its world trip, in the arithmetic contest.

Guess Who

This Senior lass in the Senior play walks a block to school each day, Her blonde, wavy hair And skin so fair, Her clothes so neat, And dignity sweet, Her favorite saying "Oh gee, it always happens just to me," You'll surely guess without even trying, The girl we have just been describing.

Andover Places Third and Fourth In County Contest

Tuesday evening, March 29th, the county oratorical contest sponsored by the American Legion, was held at Belmont.

Andover High School was represented by Marion Swarts and Clyde Briggs, the two winners in the local contest, who placed third and fourth respectively at Belmont. First and second honors were won by Gerald Gallman and Arthur Petri, both of Wellsville.

The county prizes were $10, $5, $3, $2.

Cast for Marionette Show Chosen

Tryouts for the various characters in "Alice in Wonderland," our marionette show, were held last week. Marjorie Bergman was chosen for Alice; Paul Ryan, the White Rabbit; James Driscoll, the Frog Footman; Jean Rogers the Duchess; Bonita Simms, The Pigeon; Miles Gorsuch the Caterpillar and Leonard Cartwright for the clown, who is to be the announcer and entertainer between acts. Last touches are being put on the stage by Jack Greenan who is painting it. John Dean, Stanley Ruger and Victor Oaker are making the outdoor scenery for White Rabbit's hole.

Next week rehearsals will begin. All the marionettes will be taught to walk, talk, and act so they will be able to put on a successful performance at our school exhibit in May.

Our Homemakers

FASHIONS OF TODAY
The fashions worn by people of today have been adapted from the clothes worn by people of the Egyptian, Greek and Roman.

The tight, clinging frock of the Egyptian maid is not used as much as are fashions adopted from the graceful Grecian chiton or the stola worn by Roman women. There were very slight changes in fashions during the early part of the middle Ages, but toward the end of this period many rich fabrics in as many different and rich colors came into being.

During the 15th century many extreme costumes came into use. A tall pointed headdress, sometimes as high as three feet, was worn. Shoes were long and pointed and sometimes had strings on them to hold the points up. After these extremes, fashions became much simpler.

Fashion is a whimsical dictator. One day she orders us to rip hems and make dresses longer; the next she demands them shorter. Now we have hats that perch lightly on the back of curls and swirls, now big floppy brims drooping down over slick coiffures. Her dictates with respect to jewelry, are just as unexpected and just as ridiculous, for example, sprawling, glittering spiders for adornment is the order of the day.

Faculty Facts

Miss Evelyn Lloyd spent the week-end at her home in Little Valley.
Principal G. E. Bretsch and Mr. Host, vice principal, attended the third Allegany County Schoolmasters Association meeting held at Belmont, Thursday evening, Mar. 23. The dinner and program were presented by the Rochester Business Institute.

Miss Catherine R. Killigrew spent the week-end at her home in Cornington.

Second Grader Writes on Indians

In connection with the study of Indians an enterprising second grader wrote the following facts which she has gleaned from the study of the red men:

The Indians
In the long ago Indians lived in tepees which were tents. The Indian children, all but boys, wore rugs and blankets. The Indian men worked hard all day hunting for food. There are Indian chiefs in Indian villages. I know some Indian names, do you? These are the names Bah, Red Feather; Big Chief; Black Feather; Four Moons and Blue Sky.
My name is Johanne Theetge, I live in Andover, New York. I go to the Andover school. I am in second grade.
My teacher's name is Miss Dickinson.

Senior Play Tonight

If you enjoy thrills and excitement, laughs and tears, come to Andover High School, Thursday or Friday evening, March 31 and April 1, at 8:15.

The Senior Class presents at that time a mystery play, "The Phantom Bells," a mystery of the first order as anyone who saw the previews will guarantee.

You have no doubt heard about the mysterious bells, howls, breezes and disappearances, but to fully realize how thrilling and entertaining these can be, you must see and hear them.

There is also another side to the story. The members of the cast have spent one to three hours every day for the past month in rehearsals for the play and much time and pains have also been spent by others in stage effects. The Seniors deserve the support of everyone in Andover. The money is used to help take care of the expenses of graduation.

Give the Seniors your support by attending the play and in return the Seniors guarantee to give you more than your money's worth.

Observatory

HAVE YOU NOTICED —
That the Latin I class has learned that Dolores means sorrow?
The bright red blouse which Dorothy J. likes to wear?
Dolores' sudden liking to '38 Buick?
How some Seniors like "new comers" to Andover?
That the Seniors are furnishing the entertainment tonight and tomorrow night. Don't miss "The Phantom Bells," the Seniors' latest production.
How well the girls in the physical education class like to bite on nice days? (or do they?)
Basil's blimp of West Greenwood street?
That Schlem's birthday was last Sunday? Too bad it couldn't have waited a day.
That the famous serial killer, White and the Snow, will be at the school on April 2nd?

Humor

In senior class
Mr. Host: "What are biting insects?"
Wendell Vars: "Sarcastic insects."
Mr. Host: "Sarcastic insects?"
Wendell: "Yes, that's what the dictionary says."
Mr. Host: "What word did you look up?"
Wendell: "Biting—it gives as synonym cutting, sharp or sarcastic."
Clyde Briggs: "What do you do when you see an unusually beautiful girl?"
Jo Butler: "I look awhile; then I get tired and lay the mirror down."

George Joyce, who takes the part of Jack Page in the play is tied up and enters from the back. He falls thru the door on his back.

Some one asked George if it was a "dummy." We thought it funny. But did George!

Mrs. McGee: "What are man-dates?"
Veronica L.: "Appointments with gentlemen."
Miss Cappuccilli: "What is the objective of 'he'?"
Nancy: "She!"
Miss Killigrew: "Why were the articles of Confederation a failure?"
George Joyce: "Because they had no women's suffrage and they didn't enforce the 18th amendment."

Marion Burgett: "Did you ever hear anything so wonderful as this new song?"
Mrs. Burgett: "I don't know as I have, but once I heard a collision between a truck load of empty milk cans and a truck filled with empty cans and it sounded just like that jazz."

It is said Carol Burdick drove up to a tall gate some time ago and the gateman called out "fifty cents" to him. Carol answered "Sold!" but the gateman seemingly didn't want the car.

Miss Lloyd: "What is your idea of harmony?"
Arden Mattison: "A freckle-faced girl in a polka-dot dress and a leopard coat leading a giraffe."

Mr. McGee: "Are you yawning?"
Doris Honegger: "No; just giving a silent Indian war-whoop!"

What Do You Know About Health?

By FISHER BROWN and NAT FALK

Answers: 1. That "milk should form a conspicuous element in the diet for all ages."
2. Among a group of our foreign population, the use of different colored yarn has been advocated as a "cure" for contagious diseases. Red yarn has been advised for erysipelas, yellow for jaundice, pink for pink-eye and white for anemia. This is a serious and dangerous superstition, for medical treatment is being delayed, and others possibly exposed to the infection.
3. Prominent American neurologist. He was among the first doctors to study serpent venom. He was the first to emphasize the importance of eyestrain as a cause of headaches. He introduced the "rest cure" or Weir Mitchell treatment, which is now widely used as a treatment for nervous diseases.

SCHOOL DAYS

Now remember, a dozen eggs, one loaf of bread—whole wheat bread—the large loaf, not the small— and ask mister penny to give you seconds, they're every bit as good as first eggs— and considerable cabbage— loaf of whole wheat bread, large size, remember, one pound of creamery butter, six nutmegs, box of starch— better get a dozen nutmegs, I guess, and a pound and a quarter porter house steak. Ask mister Denison to take out the T bone, cut off the tail and grind it up and stuff it into the hole where the T bone was. Oh yes, and a gallon of vinegar.
