HERE'S OUR CHANCE

In one of the late issues I attempted to point out to every student the qualities our school paper contains in comparison with the papers of other schools. The council of the Allegany County Scholastic Press Association has chosen members of the council to judge the school papers from all the schools. There is a possibility that a newspaperman would also participate in the judging. Each member is to send a copy of its paper and the prizes will be awarded at the May meeting of the association at Mayfield.

Play Cast Enjoys Dinner

Last Wednesday afternoon, following the matinee, the "Mystery Scores" play cast enjoyed a dinner at the home of the author. A delicious dinner, consisting of salad, salmon loaf, rolls, pickles, olives, coffee, cake and the best treat of all, home made ice cream, was served. The cast members were: Miss Mary Wood, Miss Paul Brun- dage and John Baker, the assistant stage manager. The play cast had the pleasure of being the first persons to use the newly installed dining room chairs and table.

Library News

April Fool! The title of the library bulletin last week, was very timely. Appropriate original poems definitely designed to fool the public were posted. Here is one example: "When wandering in the library. Just listen, stop and look. To see if someone will throw at you. One of our newest books. Please turn around and see. If you can't start a duel. Just try doing this. Are you surely will be. April Fool!!"

Guess Who

This pretty girl with eyes so blue, Has always liked everyone, including you. She's extremely pleasant thruout the day, And you'll always find her very gay. She's rather tall and quite slender, And has proved to be an excellent mender. She's a sophomore girl in A. H. S. So prove your intelligence by making the guess. If you're in doubt to last week's dame, Thelma Ahrens is her name.

Mystery Scores Success

The annual Senior play, "The House of Phantom Bells," which was presented Wednesday afternoon, March 30, and Thursday and Friday evenings, Mar. 31 and April 1, was a success both from a financial standpoint and as entertainment. A full house Thursday night witnessed the opening blood-curdling scenes of the play. Many a worried glance was cast over a shoulder in the audience as terrifying screams were heard and supernatural events unfolded. From the first scene thru the last the play moved with swiftness and electrifying action. Every moment was either fraught with suspense and mystery or rollicking with comedy. The comedians, Harriett, as played by Katherine Barber, won the audience with her screaming reactions to the mystery surrounding her. Honors are due to Katherine for her acting in this play. She was reminiscent of the famous movie comedienne, Zazu Pitts in her interpretation of the role. Gales of laughter from the audience followed each of her appearances.

Donald Hardy is well known to Andover audiences. Both as a brusque detective and as a millionaire father and husband, he exhibited his usual talent for making a character alive and real. The unscrupulous and greedy step-mother, Mrs. Rhodes, was ably interpreted by Marian Swarts, who is to be congratulated for the smoothness and adaptability with which she adjusted herself to playing a very unsympathetic role.

Charlotte Cook, as Laura, the pretty step-daughter, was pleasing and adequate. Jack Fage, the fiance of Laura, was well played by George Joyce. His unscrupulous rival, Victor LaVelle, was played by Henry Antan. Henry's confident showed ability in the manner in which he played the role, epitomizing a true hunter. The role of Margaret as Darrell Carter, a girl who got up from her bed after fainting, did a fine piece of acting. Her nurse, Lola Santos, was played by Thelma Ahrens. It is a difficult thing to portray so many emotions as Thelma was obliged to, but she acted with the ease and assurance of a veteran.

Carol Burdick very successfully took the part of a stern lawyer and Doris Honegger with her usual success at interpretation of roles played by his demure little secretary. Miss Josephine Cappuccelli, teacher of English and director of dramatics, directed the play. She is to be congratulated for its outstanding success. Appreciation for work behind the scenes should be given to the faculty and student committees who aided in the production.

New Furniture In Homemaking House

The new furniture arrived in the homemaking department last Wednesday. It is maple in a simple design in Early American style. This type was chosen because it creates a democratic atmosphere suitable for the school. It is very well constructed, a necessary qualification, as about 50 persons a day handle and use it. The furniture consists of a drop-leaf table, a chest of drawers, eight Windsor-type straight chairs, two upholstered chairs and a secretary desk. The house with this very lovely furniture looks much more home-like and attractive. With the new additions, there is more working and storage spaces for linens and books. Additional pieces will be added from time to time.

Grade News

The first grade has a new pupil, Glenn Hughes, who came from West Wellsville school. The first and second grade pupils are bringing eggs to school and then painting and decorating them, thus making the eggs ready for Easter. The sixth graders made bar graphs for arithmetic which will last for a period of ten weeks. They are also making Easter pictures during drawing class. The second grade has an interesting science collection with the following articles included in it: a floating stone, wasp homes, Indian arrow and spear heads, porcupine quills and many different kinds of ores, shells, and pepper seeds. The attendance banners for the month of March were won by the fourth and fifth grade.

Henry Antan: "What do you think would go well with my '38 model 'range cocker?"
Dick Spicer: "Huh?"

Charles: "Of course, there are more fish in the sea."
Thelma: "Yes, and they'll no doubt stay there until you get a better line."
Miss Cappuccelli: "I think it best that you should ask him to refund the money. You know, just a polite note."
Mary Greenan: "That's a good idea. How do you spell 'scoundrel'?"
Henry Antan: "Which is right, a hen is sitting or a hen is setting?"
Carrol B (the future farmer): "I don't know, and I don't care; all I worry about is whether she's laying or lying when she cackles."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colant—and You'll Run Out of Bile in the Morning! Eat 'em to Go!
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.
A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. No. 50. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

NEW YORK CITY... Bobby Benson, who a little more than a year ago was a well known juvenile hero on the radio, is now the hero of a comic strip entitled "With Bobby Benson on the H-Bar-O." The new comic strip series featuring Bobby will appear in daily newspapers of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maine, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island, beginning the middle of April.
