"...TO END ALL WARS"

NECORATION DAY, as a national observance, is a beautiful and significant expression of a nation's thoughts and hopes. It is no glorification of war or the cause of war. It is no memorial to any one war, but rather a remembrance to those who fell in defense of their Adopted from the Southern custom of honoring their war dead, Decoration Day is emblematic of a common interest in perpetuating the cause of peace. The observance furnishes a pause for contemplating upon the story of war and what it means. This contemplation penetrates the illogical belief that war will end war . . . and reaffirms the pure logic that the steady progression of peace and peaceful methods is the best defense against future wars:
