GRANGE NEWS

Edith M. Thorne, Lecturer

Last year the Grange planted an evergreen tree on the library lawn, to commemorate the 150th year of the signing of the ratification of the Constitution. This year it proposes to put the Shrines of the Constitution of the United States and of the Declaration of Independence in our library.

There could be no more fitting tribute to the Constitution; no greater bit of community service than to do this, thus giving the people of Andover an opportunity to view and study these immortal documents, a privilege heretofore enjoyed only by those fortunate enough to visit the shrine in the Library of Congress at Washington.

In order to do this, they will arrange an entertainment on or near Constitution Day, Sept. 17, confident that nearly everyone in Andover will pay a quarter admission that thereby these shrines may be in the library. See the description of the shrines in the postoffice.

The following proclamation was made by President Franklin D. Roosevelt:

150th Anniversary of the Constitution

Whereas: the Constitution of the United States was signed on Sept. 17, 1787, and had by June 21, 1788 been ratified by the necessary number of States, and

Whereas, George Washington was inaugurated as the first President of the United States on April 30, 1789.

Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, hereby designate the period from September 17, 1937 to April 30, 1939, as one of commemoration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the ratification of the Constitution and of the inauguration of the first President under that Constitution.

In commemorating this period we shall affirm our debt to those who ordained and established the Constitution, "in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity."

We shall recognize that the Constitution is an enduring instrument fit for the governing of a far-flung population of more than one hundred and thirty million, engaged in diverse and varied pursuits, even as it was fit for the governing of a small agrarian Nation of less than four million. It is therefore appropriate that in the period herein set apart we shall think afresh of the founding of our Government, under the Constitution, how it has served us in the past and how in the days to come its principles will guide the Nation ever forward.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and cause the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

Centralized School

The question of whether or not we shall have a centralized school seems to be the one uppermost in the minds of our people these days.

First of all I am in favor of centralization because I feel that in the long run it will be a great benefit to Andover and the surrounding country. There are already 200 or more centralized schools in the state and within a very few years all localities where it is economical to have a central school there will be one.

It appears to me that the proposition now before the Andover people is a better one than they can even hope to have offered them again. We know without a doubt that if we do not accept the WPA grant that it will be lost for all time. We also know that if we wait until all surrounding territory is centralized that some of the districts that rightfully belong to us will have been assigned to these other schools. As a large part of our public money is based on attendance of the number of pupils, this would reduce our state aid in the same proportion that our attendance is decreased.

During the past 32 years that I have lived in Andover, every new project that has been presented at ways had people who opposed it, but there has always been enough public spirited, progressive people working for the good of Andover to keep forging ahead until we have today one of the best looking, cleanest towns in Western New York, with well-lighted and better paved streets than any of our neighboring towns and also a lower tax rate and less debt.

Drive into any town you like and look for vacant, rundown and even tumbledown houses—and then do the same when you get home and you will find Andover shows up very favorably.

This is no time to stop the progress and the boys and girls here deserve to have just as good a chance for an education as those of our neighbors.

So let us lay aside all personal or petty objections and work together for a project that will be for the most good to the most people, for years to come.
