"Education cannot be put on like three coats of paint-drying enamel," says Walter G. Hambridge, who has some views as a reporter of education.

Dear high school students, pause for a moment and think for a few moments. Are you gaining true education from your work here, or is a glossy surface that readily reflects the significance of the Battle of Hastings, the physical principle that keeps the pencil from slipping, or the delectable method of table setting?

At the end of your senior year, you find that you are really educated, that your Regents' Diploma marks you as one who can competently face the problems of life, as one who can diagnose and remedy world ailments. Actually, what?

A Mere Suggestion To Seniors

Seniors—we hear that you are selling candy on Friday, and we merely want to suggest a recipe for some delicious fudge. Of course, it can be made by students other than Seniors, but one of these nights that you think are boring. The following is a good recipe for chocolate fudge:

Two squares butter chocolate; 2 cups granulated sugar; 2 teaspoons corn syrup; 1/2 cup of milk; 2 tablespoons butter; and 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla.
