Our World of Inventions

HE history of America has been the history inventions. This nation was launched just as the beginning of the Age of Power, and of what economists refer to as the Industrial Revolution. In an enormous new country, the small population along the Atlantic Coast had to find means to conquer. the wilderness and develop the vast wealth of the land. No new nation ever grew so rapidly from poverty to riches, and it was the inventiveness and practical ingenuity of Americans which enabled our pioneers to do
