wish to thank all the parents and their friends for their attendance at the Prom last Friday evening.

As a rule, it seems that this group of "dance fans" has never before felt welcomed to attend the school dances. However, a hearty welcome from the Junior class, as well as the Senior Class is extended to you mothers and dads, uncles and aunts,

The Senior high school students of Andover Central School enjoyed a novel arrangement of periods Wednesday because of a track meet at Canisteo in the afternoon. School called at 8:45 with five periods being held in the afternoon and the three remaining periods being held in the afternoon with school dismissing at 2:50.

The main objection to this arrangement was that some of Lazier pupils had to get up earlier. The majority of the students like arrangement and wish that it could be continued during the rest of the school year.

Read Poems

Last Friday during English III class all pupils read one poem that they had selected before. They selected the poems by handing to Miss Larkin the English instructor, their first and second choice, after reading all the poems written during the 20th century.

This proved very interesting and educational. At the close of the period, Miss Larkin stated the fact that with some practice a few English III students would be excellent poem readers. Poems are steadily growing in English literature. MJM —Dental Tag Day Friday—Pupils of Science
