Four Generations Attend Mother and Daughter Banquet

Four generations of direct mother and daughter line were at the Mother and Daughter banquet at the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening when Mrs. Nora T. Hackett of Maple street brought her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Osborn who brought her daughter, Mrs. James Mulholland who in turn led by the hand her little daughter, Terry Ann.

While four generations of direct blood line are not unusual, when you combine both male and female members of the different generations to complete the four or in some known cases even five, it seemed particularly appropriate at this Mother and Daughter function, where the sterner sex were not invited that Mrs. Hackett was able to attend with four generations in direct female line and she was congratulated on her return to good health and on her family representation.

Waftings From WANDERING WILLIE

WELL, and a couple of more wells. We've done gone and had us an election. We can be justly proud of being right in step now with all the other burbs about us. Some of the folks have been guessing at the time so long that they won't believe a clock when the do see it for about two weeks more. But it's all over and done with and so we greet the much-discussed Daylight Saving Time.

One thing the election did was to create a new game in the village. We ran across several folks playing it in our wanderings. We don't know just what you could call the game but it is a sort of "Eenie, meenie, miney, mo—who said 'yes' and who said 'no' in the 292-38 results of the election.

And another thing, we are waiting patiently to see "Andy" get up at 2 a. m. to make his town clock correspond with the radios and the other villages.

It's going to be an awful shock to that timepiece when it takes that sudden hour-jump for the first time in its life in Andover.

As the returns were not turned in for "Chicken Hollow" we cannot authentically say whether they are on fast or "cow" time.

But to put all kidding aside, there will be some degree of inconvenience to a few people with Daylight Saving Time in effect. But with the huge majority of voters for the new time here, well that's about all there is to it.

THIS Sunday will see the beginning of another baseball season in Andover, and also will bring out the usual line of deadbeats who have year after year watched the game from outside the field in order to save their two-bits.

The ticket sellers up at the ball diamond are the easiest fellows in the world to get along with, and we can bet a plug nickel that if you only had 19 cents they would let you see the game from inside instead of "South of the Border."

Ten fellows at 19 cents each would buy a doggone good ball, so let's all get inside and root as well as pay. Last year the boys handed out a good brand of ball playing to the spectators and this year we are confident they will outdo themselves in taking a crack at the League pennant.

By the way "Rollie" Shaff is sure holding up good under that jalopy. We have often wondered just what a car of that type could take before it gave up the ghost. It certainly was a tired little jitney after chasing the fire truck last week, but we give you credit Rollie, you ran the truck a close second (or was it 22nd)?

IN last week's line about the play, (perhaps you've heard of it, it's a comedy we understand under the title of "Lyric Time") we forgot to introduce a new comer to Andover's footlights in the person of Claude Loucks as the mayor of Els Corners, by cracky. We saw Claude go thru his stuff at rehearsal one evening and he can certainly dish it out when it comes to acting!

Baker's Hardware News

Did You Have to Buy Hay?

On account of the dry summer last year, the hay crop was short and nearly everyone had to buy hay.

For the same reason, many old meadows as well as new seeding is very poor this Spring.

Are you going to depend on your poor meadows for all your fodder next winter or plan now to sow other crops?

You can add to that fodder shortage by raising Peas and Oats, Soudan Grass, Millets, Soy Beans, more Corn or other kinds of forage crops.

Now is the time to plan the sowing of these other crops and make sure to help your supply of fodder next fall. We can supply you with the proper seeds as long as they are to be found in the market. There is a shortage of some of these seeds so leave your order early if you need them. Also a full stock of Timothy and Clover Seed.
