Milk Industry Faces Problem of Production

Neglect of Supply Control Constitutes "Greatest Danger" to Stability of Dairying in New York.

Almost on the eve of his third anniversary as New York State Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets, Holton V. Noyes told the annual meeting of the Dairymen's League Co-operative Association at Utica (June 20) that "we have made great progress toward solution of our difficult milk problem."

"To me," he said, "the outstanding accomplishment of the past few years is the realization by our various farm groups that they must cooperate together. Frequent meetings of these groups, and open discussions of their common problems, have done more, undoubtedly, than anything else to bring about this desirable result."

Commissioner Noyes repeated his warning of a year ago that unreasonable increases in the production of milk will react to the disadvantage of the producer. On this point he commented:

"Let me illustrate from the market administrator's official reports. In November, 1939, milk shipped into the metropolitan market to be pooled averaged only 11,202,659 pounds daily. This normally low amount, sufficient, however, to meet normal needs and assure a protective surplus, assured a high percentage of upper class utilization, or 87.06 per cent. This meant the influence of surplus upon the final blend was only 12.94 per cent. That month farmers received $2.28 as their blended price for all their milk."

"Now let us see what has happened five months later in April. We find production has increased so much the daily average amount of milk coming into the market has risen to 17,350,676 pounds, or an increase of about 55 per cent. And all of this increase took place under barn feeding conditions, without the stimulation of new pastures or other favorable changes. What did this additional surplus production do to the blended price? It reduced the influence of upper class utilization upon the final price to 64.79 per cent and increased the influence of surplus upon the price to 35.21 per cent. Who paid the penalty for this ill-advised over-production? The farmer, because his blend price was driven down to $1.81. For every dollar he received in November he had to produce only 44 pounds of milk, while in April he had to produce 55 pounds for a dollar."

"We shall undoubtedly see this average daily production increase further in June, as it normally does. We shall also see the unfavorable influence of this seasonal increase of surplus upon the ultimate blend price."

"These figures emphasize, I believe, that surplus control is the most important problem now facing the dairy industry in this State. I have been greatly pleased to note the public support I have received from officers of your association, and from others in the dairy industry, in my efforts to interest dairymen in this problem. However, nothing I can do, or any of us can do, will be effective until, and unless, every individual dairymen realizes the problem for what it is—his own responsibility."

"Insofar as production regulation is concerned, there is, of course, no immediate way of exercising a certain amount of control. Probably in the average dairy of this State at least 10 or 15 per cent of the cows are poor producers which it really is not profitable to keep, no matter what milk prices may be. If all the poor, unprofitable cows in the milk shed were sent to the slaughter house, it would materially reduce the production of surplus milk and thereby naturally increase the price of milk, under the order. But this matter, as well as the whole production problem, is an individual matter for each dairymen himself. We can suggest, however, that this particular solution of the production problem lies largely in keeping records of individual cows."

"As for the broad question of production regulation, we are forced to realize that very little actually can be accomplished in this direction until there is general acceptance of the need for this regulation upon the part of producers."

"No greater problem than this matter of production regulation faces our dairy industry today. No greater danger threatens the continuation of our present satisfactory market regulation than continued neglect of this problem. No greater opportunity has ever faced the industry to demonstrate its ability to solve its own problems than this issue presents. The Dairymen's League itself has no greater opportunity to demonstrate its worth to the dairy industry of our State than by leading the attack upon this problem."

Farm Bureau Plans World's Fair Tours

Two low cost tours to the New York World's Fair will be conducted by the New York State Farm Bureau Federation on June 28 and August 16, according to Herbert P. King of Trumansburg, president of the federation. Mr. King says that these tours are especially designed for farm and rural people in order that they may visit the big exposition at minimum cost.

The August 16th tour falls in Farmer's Week at the World's Fair. Mr. King points out that many features of special interest to farm people are scheduled for Farmer's Week.

Both tours will be of three days duration and will be of the all-expense type. Those wishing to remain longer at the fair may do so.

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds of FAT

Lost Her Prominent Hips Lost Her Double Chin Lost Her Sluggishness

Gained a More Shapely Figure and the Increase in Physical Vigor and Vivaciousness Which So Often Comes With Excess Fat Reduction.

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do.

Why not be smart — do what thousands of women have done to get off pounds of unwanted fat. Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing every morning to gently activate liver, bowels and kidneys — cut down your caloric intake — eat wisely and satisfactorily — there need never be a hungry moment!

Keep this plan up for 30 days. Then weigh yourself and see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat. Just see if this doesn't prove to be the surprise of your life and make you feel like shouting the good news to other fat people. And best of all a jar of Kruschen that will last you for 4 weeks costs but little. If not joyfully satisfied — money back.

Doan's Pills

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The net of living—its filter—constantly producing waste from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function, Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer from backache, persistent headaches, attacks of dizziness, peeing up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. An endorsed the country over. Must be Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.
