Before the Bell Rings

The year 1943 is here. The New Year usually inspires us to make a few very fine resolutions which we intend to keep, we hope.

Maybe you didn't make a resolution to get to school on time, or to be in class before the two-minute bell rings. It may seem like a small thing to worry about, but it really is a very bad habit to which it is easy to succumb. It makes it very difficult for the teachers to take an accurate roll-call, to say nothing of conducting class.

Tardiness causes a great loss of valuable class time which is extremely important at examination time especially.

So, make a resolution to be in class on time and be to school on time. And keep it. JB

Study! Study!—Will You?

Midyear "exams" are only a few days away. The marks received in these "exams" are a large factor in determining whether or not you will pass at the end of the year.

For a certain number of students, reviewing consists of intensive (!) cramming during the 15 minutes immediately preceding the exam. As a result, the smattering of history or English they did know becomes very confused with what they wish they knew. If any of these students ever had a desire for a text book it is immediately after the exam papers have been handed out.

Let's pretend that this is exam week and that we have both the book and papers. So why not study the material very closely in order to counteract the wish for a book when we can't have one? RJB

With Needle And Spoon

Home Economics 9th Grade girls are studying "Consumer Education," a topic concerned with the buying of food.

The girls in Home Economics A are going to start baking muffins and baking powder biscuits this week.

The girls in Home Economics 7 are starting a new unit on "Using the Family's Income." WG

No Seen In This Senior

We present to you Mary Elaine Baker, who was born April 23, 1926 in Andover, N. Y.

Her favorites are:
Foods: A tie between chocolate eclaires and a fish fry.
Song: "White Christmas."
Actress: Lana Turner.
Actor: John Payne.
Book: "I Married Adventure."
Author: No favorite.
Movie: "Somewhere I'll Find You."
Color: Blue.
Car: Buick.
Recreation: Everything.
Hobby: Collecting sovenirs for a scrap book.
Orchestra leader: Harry James.
Subject: Typing.

She says that the most important event in her school years was being valedictorian of the eighth grade graduating class in 1939. Her first teacher was Miss Leo, now Mrs. Alvord.

Mary participates in many activities. She is vice president of the Senior Class and president of the Library Council, a reporter for and social chairman of the Hi Heraald. She was also a member of the Junior and Senior play casts in 1941 and 1942.

Mary, when she finishes school, would like to train to be a nurse. AEH

Victor Oakes Wins State Scholarship

Word was received recently that Victor S. Oakes, valedictorian of the Class of 1942, has been honored with a State cash scholarship award from New York State. Five of these scholarships are given each year in this county. These scholarships are rated according to the average of four years in high school.

"Vic," who is taking an engineering course at Syracuse University, has been deferred from the Army from January to March and will continue his work until his deferment is up. MH

What Did You Get?

Old Santa was kept very busy around the village of Andover this year. A few results of his generosity are as follows:

Charles Joyce, a five dollar bill.
Barbara Brownell, fountain pen and sweater.
Donald Burger, printing press.
Jean Button, enormous box of candy.
Pat Lynch, flashy red hat.
Paul Kilbane, leather jacket.
Ruth Hardy, gold locket.
Marilyn Hardy, a picture.
Ruth Lynch, a compact.
Patricia Joyce, Coty perfume.
Delores Dean, two sweaters, dusty pink and forest green.
Miss Colberg, archery set.
Miss Sherwood, new pen from shorthand class.
Elaine Pope, red sweater and brown skirt.
Don Northrup, monopoly game.
Virginia Loring, Evening in Paris set. BD

Midyear Exams In Two Weeks

Midyear examinations will be given this year the week of January 18, thru January 22. The students do not anticipate a pleasant time during this week.

ACS Welcomes Three New Pupils

Three new students were welcomed to ACS this week. A Senior, Arbirta Walden, comes from Greenwood High School. She is taking History C, Home Economics 7, and English 4. She likes ACS very much and the only noticeable difference from Greenwood high are longer corridors and more time for the noon hour.

Paul Owen, a freshman, is taking the usual required freshman subjects and shop. He transferred from Hornell High School and likes ACS. He says we have different rules from Hornell high.

We also welcome an eighth grader, Myrtle Fowler, who comes from Sanborn. Her subjects are English, Social Studies, Science, Mathematics and spelling. Her former school was very much like ACS.

We wish these new pupils much happiness in Andover Central School. CMH

Marian Stevens Airs Views on Democracy

In Student Government

Marian Stevens, '44, has written a rather outstanding composition, "Lessons In Democracy Learned Through Student Government," as an English III assignment.

"The fundamental philosophy underlying our education system today is that of preparing young people for citizenship in a democracy. This preparation is incomplete unless the younger people actually experience training in democratic ways of living. An opportunity for this is provided within the school itself, when the boys and girls assume the responsibility of governing themselves. The framework of this self-government is usually in the form of a Student Council, the members of which are elected by the students themselves.

The objectives of student participation may be classified in two main groups: benefits to the students and benefits to the school.

The benefits of the Student Council to the students are as follows: (1) to prepare the students for active life in a democracy; (2) to make him self-directive, (3) to teach social co-operation; (4) increase student interest in the school, (5) to develop social morale, (6) to foster sentiments of law and order, (7) to discover and develop special qualities and abilities.

Student participation develops the student personally. It fosters democracy, fair play, unselfish service, consideration for the rights of others, and respect for the law of the social group. High ideals of citizenship are kept constantly before the students in a well organized council.

They should have a constitution. The charter granted by the principal should be the basis for such a constitution. The constitution, as a rule, should be developed step by step as the school, principal and teachers, as well as pupils develop ability to participate in the direction of this important part of school activities.

As you may see, thru this type of governing, the student may thoroly learn his mistakes and take greater pains later, to see that they are not repeated. In this way he may become a more honest and upright citizen, the kind which the United States needs.

What Did You Do?

Everyone seemed to keep himself busy during vacation, even if circumstances concerning gas rationing did prevent many from going very far from home. A few notes about some of these people and their holiday activities are printed below for the interest of Hi Herald readers:

Miss Anderson: "I was isolated because of an ice storm while visiting home."

Betty Greene: "I visited in Hornell and Wellsville, but spent most of my time working at home."

Doris Sick and Marian Stevens: "We had a glorious time New Year's Eve in Hornell."

Ruth Slocum: "Visited in Hornell and Wellsville, but didn't do anything else except work at home."

Delores Dean and Jean Lynch: "Just loafed around home."

Norma Crowner: "Dodged the snow banks while visiting friends on White Hill outside of Allentown."

Marilyn and Ruth Hardy: "We went to a swell show in Wellsville New Year's Eve but had a hard time hearing it."

Miss Hussong: "Enjoyed a restful vacation at home in Hornell."

Virginia Joyce: "Spent most of my vacation in bed."

Nearly everyone saw the Old Year out and the New Year in and is ready to turn over a new leaf to begin another year. NAC

Death Comes to ACS Inmate

Mr. Chippy, a recent resident of Andover, died at his home, 224 Science Room, Andover Central School during vacation.

Mr. Chippy was found dead Saturday by the janitors, Jim Nobles and Francis Horan, both friends of the late Mr. Chippy.

Funeral services were also held Saturday for Chippy, who was a gift to the science department by Mr. Watson.

Upon questioning Jim Nobles and Francis Horan, we received the following uncensored information from Francis Horan:

"After making sure he was dead, I tossed him out the window that was held open by Jim Nobles. He didn't make too much of a thud when he hit the ground but he splattered a lot!"

Now, don't get us wrong! Francis is not Boris Karloff. Must be he just didn't have much love for Chippy, the pet squirrel. VML

Janitors Put 'O.K.' On Pupils

John Nobles, ACS janitor, finds that the boys and girls of the local Alma Mater are "typical kids" and, in a talk which this reporter had with him recently, he said that all kids are about the same.

Jim Nobles says that they are "all right" as a general rule, but once in a while they get mischievous.

They are, however, guilty of numerous faults that could be corrected. For instance, in the basements, many boys, especially, climb up on the partitions, getting them very dirty. Then, too, they sometimes turn the faucets around out of place.

Many students throw important test papers, which should be kept for future reference, in the waste baskets. Everything from apple cores to broken glass is found in the waste baskets.

Jim Nobles says that he would appreciate it a lot if pupils would not put waste paper in the ink wells. All this makes it harder for the janitors to do their daily work, of which there is more than enough to keep any four people busy. Don B

BOYS' SPORTS

George Karcanes '44, has substituted as boys' sports writer this week in the absence of Miles Gorsuch '44, who has left school to join the Marines.

The Andover Purple Panthers, after enjoying a long vacation, began practice on the ACS gym floor Monday in preparation for the remainder of the season. The Panthers have a slightly different lineup in the first part of this week's practice with "Jim" Holt taking Miles Gorsuch's place at guard.

"Jim" Driscoll and "Jim" Holt will probably be playing the guard position since both have dead-eyes on the pop shots and each is good on defense.

"Naz" Dolan and "Slip" Karcanes will hold down the forward berths, both being high scorers for the team with 40 points each.

"Chuck" Holt will be playing center, having played very good defensive as well as offensive, ball this season.

Harold West, "Bob" Baker, "Jake" Shellman, "Doc" Ludden and "Art" Temple will make up the rest of the team. These boys showed much promise in the pre-season games and made the first stringers fight hard for their first team positions.

Coach 'Bob" Ingerson drilled an offense and defense this week, trying to iron out the weaknesses that the team has shown this year.

The Panthers have a fair record this year winning three games —one from Alfred-Almond for that team's only defeat this season, one from Wellsville, who trounced Canisteo and the third from Cuba. They have lost to Wellsville and Whitesville, both out of town games.

Gas rationing has presented many difficulties to the fans when it comes to attendance at out-of-town games, but when the boys play at home it is hoped that everyone will continue to give them lots of support.

We Can, We Will, We Must

We can, we will, we must keep our New Year resolutions! The students and faculty members have made a good start for the new year:

Ruth Lynch—stops all "personal' 'fighting!

Arretta Dunham—stay in nights now that George has gone.

Marian Stevens—more respect for her teachers.

"Bebe" Dean—no candy and sundaes for a while.

Doris Sick—"If I don't make any, I won't break them."

Mr. Maloy—an attempt to buy more War Bonds.

Miss Colberg—to try to be in bed every night by 11 o'clock.

Miss Anderson—resolved not to make any.

Elaine Pope—get up at the first call.

Barbara Childs—have her assignments finished and handed in on time.

Paul Kilbane—not to eat any more watermelon until summer.

"One Big Wish"

The night was cool,
The lights were low;
I sat in my room
With my stove and its glow.
The voices downstairs,
And the voices outside,
Some laughing, some singing
In the sweet Yuletide.
The quietness haunted me
As I sat there alone
Just thinking—and glad
That I was at home.
Then I thought of the other countries
