4 letter this week from Tech. Sgt. Emilio Yannie, who was wounded during action over enemy territory some weeks ago and for which he received the Purple Heart award, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Yannie, says, in part:

About Our Boys

In Service

Dear Mom and All: It's about time I wrote you again to let you all know I'm getting along O. K. and can look forward to getting up on my feet in a few weeks.

I feel very well, but I have to wait patiently for my leg and foot. I can't hurry them. You know what broken bones are. I received quite a few letters all at once this week. They were mostly all from January but even so they made me feel much bet-Vic and Vince both are O. K.

Their letters were very nice and quite unexpected. I had written Vince just before receiving his. There's still two of us Yanks here, so I have some company yet. He's up and around and may leave anytime now. These Limeys aren't so bad tho, once 'you get to know them. I'm getting as good treatment as I could
