HOW YOU CAN HELP SOLVE NEXT WINTER'S COAL PROBLEM TODAY

O get an idea of how much coal American railroads have been moving every week, look at these fifteen carloads and multiply them by 14,000.

This is a total of 210,000 carloads of coal—an average week's loading.

Last year, Erie alone hauled 2,506,375 more tons of coal and coke than in the previous year. This increased tonnage was sufficient to heat more than 300,000 homes—all the homes in Akron, Ohio, Albany, N. Y., Erie, Pa., Hartford, Conn., Newark, N. J., and Rochester, N. Y. combined.

This year, Erie and other American railroads will be delivering more coal than ever before to American homes and industries.

Do your part to help meet this. increased demand for coal transportation by ordering next winter's supply today. Take delivery as early as possible so American railroads can deliver the goods for the battlefront as well as for the home front.
