not one another.

This is a fault of everyone and a bad habit. We shouldn't criticize everyone else, for it is a shock if we could see or hear ourselves. Of course, we are wonderful in our own eyes, but from someone else's not so good. Why so many cliques? Can't we get along with anyone except that special pal? If we try going around with a crowd, it would probably be lots more fun and we would have many more friends. If we have a party we don't know who to invite when we just go around with one friend. Perhaps no one would Case, g -----S. Shaner, g ____ 0 even care to come.

Of course, it will be hard for any of us to do all this, but we could certainly try and if it didn't work we could go back to our old ways. Who ever heard of J. V's Lose these things not working?
