KEY 10 A CABINET

Of the several keys your pharmacist carries with him at all times, there sone in particular that he guards more carefully than any other. It's the key to a cabinet in his prescription department . : a cabinet that holds his stock of narcotic drugs 1:1 opium, morphine, codeine, and

These drugs are among the most important in pharmacy, for they are the ones your physician prescribes to provide relief from the torments of insufferable pain. Their quieting, comforting, pain-relieving

But, unfortunately, these drugs are also a scourge to society when Wrongly used. If they fell into the hands of unprincipled "dope peddlers" they would become part of an illegitimate traffic which wrecks the lives of performance in living up to his responsibility.—Reprinted from a
