THE NEW JONES MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Designed to provide a larger, more efficiently arranged, more comfortable and better-equipped hospital for 20,000 residents in southern Allegany county and nearby Pennsylvania, a new Jones Memorial Hospital will rise on a site behind the present hospital in Wellsville after a $500,000 building fund, to be supplemented by a federal grant, is raised in this area. The new hospital of three stories and ground floor, visualized here, will be in modern Georgian style and mented by a federal grant, is raised in this area. The new hospital of three stories and ground floor, visualized here, will be possible at minimum cost. Duane have the latest equipment and accommodations for 63 to 71 patients, besides 23 newborn babies. Future enlargement will be possible at minimum cost. The new structure will be of reinforced concrete and windows and interior trim of aluminum and acoustical ceilings throughout, Mr. Davie reported. For easy communication between the floors there will be two elevators and three stairways. All accommodations will be in modern one, two and four-bed units, oriented to receive sunlight at some time hospital will retain its endowment funds and save the cost of heating plant. Studies are being 'made for moving the Tullar maternity unit to another part of the site for chronic or other patients not needing care in a fireproof building. Speaking from a doctor's point of view, Dr. Irwin Felsen, chairman of the medical subscription committee, pointed to the value f isolation facilities for adults and children, the separate floor for mothers and babies, a nursery section that meets fully the strict standards of the new state
