Memorial Day By Charity Howland Memorial Day is the day set aside to honor the memory soldiers and sailors who have fallen in war. The early custom of decorating the graves with flowers and banners orginated in the South. During the Civil War some of the southern women chose a day in early spring on which they scattered flags and flowers on both Union and Confederate graves. They were impartial in the remembering of both sides that fell in civil rebellion. Again in the early 1920's the many more graves were being honored. Our men had left their happy homeland and journeyed across the seas to Europe to make "the world safe for us."

Happiness did not last long and once more mothers and wives found themselves decorating on Memorial Day. The second world war just over and the empires o' Germany and Japan had been conquered.

With these many thoughts lets us not only decorate but also be thankful in the-bottom of our hearts for their great sacrifices. Today as before we see death. suffering and unhappiness Korea. Many we only stop and pray that the menace that is trying to dominate the world in Korea be stopped soon and for the last time!
