FARM PRODUCTION outlook points to an average start crops, probably at drop of about 10 per cent in at-the-farm prices from last year, production costs up 5 🔭 cent. Net farm income will probably decline some 3 per cent at least, in spite of any boost farmers can make to produce more. Wage rates, freight rates, machinery, fertilizer and other supplies are all higher, and cannot be absorbed by a like increase in production. It is predicted that farmers' purchasing power, most important to all segments of the economy, will be the lowest since

Pomona Grange meetings scheduled for early June assume great importance this year to spark the final phases of the Goss Memorial as well as State Grange membership goals. Many Granges are finding that net gains are not too easy to make but are commendably sticking to the usual high qualification for membership, Solid growth depends on careful selection, and there are an abundance of fine prospects in every community, most of whom are attracted by Grange's active and enthusiastic leadership in civic and agricultural affairs.
