Library News

Mrs. Anna Brundage Wood has recently given to our library "An American History" in two volumes in memory of Miss Belle Brundage, one of the charter members of the Board of Trustees of the Andover Free Library.

This completely modern history of America from before Columbus to atomic age, is written by Merle Curti and other leading historians. They have given us a new kind of history, designed to meet the needs of today's readers.

Twenty-eight maps, illustrating many subjects, give these volumes an added interest and meaning.

Auction and Rummage Sale, September 24, at Independence

There will be an auction and rummage sale at Independence on Wednesday afternoon, September 24, beginning at 1:30, benefit of the church redecoration fund.

There will be furniture, tools, dishes, clothing, produce, baking and odds and ends of all sorts to select from.

Apple pie, hot dogs and coffee will also be available to satisfy your hunger while you brouse and buy.

Much work has already been done in the church redecoration project and the painter has begun his work this week. Now is the time for the people in the community and surrounding territory to do their bit, by supporting this project. If you have anything which you don't want but which might be of use or value to someone else, contact either Mrs. Nina Clarke phone 4815, or Mrs. C. M. Crandall, phone 4837, or pastor Don Sanford, phone 4825 and arrangements will be made to pick up your contribution.

Legion Starts Get-Out-Vote Project

The kick-off meeting of the Allegany County American Legion "Get-Out-The-Vote Campaign" got underway with a dinner meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hickok of Scio, last Friday night. Mr. Hickok is the chairman of the campaign for Allegany County.

At least one representative from each of the 15 posts in the county were present, along with guest speakers.

Mr. Hickok opened the meeting by outlining the three "Phase Lines" of the campaign. They were listed as follows:

1. Sept. 26—Deadline for applying for Absentee Registration and Absentee Ballot.
2. Oct. 4 and 11—Non-personal Registration.
Oct. 3, 4, 10 and 11—Personal Registration.
3. Nov. 4—Election Day.

Next on the program was Sidney Hixson of Cuba, Allegany County Clerk of Registration. He explained several problems of registration and quoted registration and election day figures from the last presidential campaign in 1948.

Mrs. Pat Cochran of Wellsville, Voters Service Chairman for the League of Women Voters, spoke next and answered several questions concerning the three phases. She emphasized the fact that the local Legion Posts should send each serviceman of voting age an absentee ballot card in case he has not received one from his commanding officer as he is supposed to.

Ralph Allen of Andover, Commander of the Allegany County American Legion, spoke briefly and cautioned everyone that the campaign must be carried on in an absolute non-partisan manner or it will defeat the purpose of the entire program.

Mrs. William Best of Bolivar, president of the Allegany County American Legion Auxiliary, appeared in behalf of that organization and offered any service that would help the cause.

Carlyle Myers is the chairman in Andover.
