County Has Fewer But Larger Farms

The final figures of the 1950 census of agriculture show that the number of farms in Allegany County decreased from 3,068 in 1945 to 2,604 in 1950, according to Marian S. Graves, supervisor of the Buffalo census district

Mrs. Graves stated that, although some of this decrease can be attributed to the change in definition of a farm used in the two --Postmaster Mary A. Burns rensuses, it is significant to note that, whereas in 1945 there were , Mr. and Mrs. Robert 455,964 acres in farm land, there were only 416,425 in 1950. They attended the Centennial

Mass and dinner at the St. Marys Concurrence however, the average size of farms in this county rose from 148.6 acres in 1945 to 159.9 in 1950, which was consistentire state. The average value of farms increased from $4.312 to $6,292 per farm, while the per acre value jumped from $29.02 to $40.47 during this same period. Of the total acreage in farm land in this county, 364,187 acres were owned by farm operators.

Potato Good

Albany, N. Y .-- The apple crop in commercial areas of New York is far short of the large crops of the three previous seasons, according to a release from the New York Crop Department of Agriand Markets and the ' States Department

Apple production for this season, estimated at 11,610,000 bushels is only two-thirds as large as the 1951 crop in New York, which totalled over 17 million bushels. All commerical areas of the State have reduced apple crops.

A short apple crop in 1952 is general throughout the northeast-United States 1952 apple crop, in dicated on October 1 as 95,975, 000 bushels, is 13 percent than last year and average.

The New York potato crop now estimated at 29,180,000 bushels. 1.3 million bushels more than the 1951 harvest, with mately 17 million bushels of the New York crop this season are produced on Long Island and 1... million in upstate counties.

Long Island potato production is 2.5 million bushels larger than more than the recent ten-year a Both acreage and yields are above 1951 levels. For upstate areas indicated production. tion in acreage and lower yields
