TEACHER RECOGNITION DAY

by Kathy Shellman

"The challenges of today, make ever — increasing demands upon the members of our teaching profession."

"In a time characterized by rapid changes in social, economic, political and scientific life, we call upon our teachers for the task of transmitting honestly and without prejudice those accumulations of ideas, knowledge, techniques, skills and values which constitute the 'funded capital of human experience'."

"In a nation which depends upon the maximum contribution of each citizen to maintain and extend our free system of government, the teacher must make the classroom a 'battlefield of democracy'. Here are forged the weapons of victory which are trained intelligence, social understanding, a will to act, and a morality that will not yield to expediency." (Quoted from a Proclamation issued by Governor Rockefeller).

Our faculty at Andover Central is trying, successfully, to meet these challenges through dedication, loyalty and devoted service. Thus do our teachers merit the respect and support of all. We should recognize and acknowledge our debt to a quarter of a million teachers, especially our own teachers in Andover, serving the dynamics of human advance.

Teacher Recognition Day is an honored tradition, observed the third Tuesday of May in New York State. This one day, proclaimed by the Governor, mayors, and other officials, does not, however, limit the appreciation to one day.

Not only student, but parents also owe a great deal of thanks to teachers. To parents, a teacher is a person who gives his children knowledge, skills and attitudes towards learning, helps his children progress academically, physically and mentally and opens the doors of learning for his child.

May 17, Teacher Recognition Day, 1966, is the day dedicated to teachers. The teachers here at Andover Central School have our sincere appreciation on that day and always.

A Wee Bit of

Bonnie Scotland

Andover students will enjoy an assembly entitled "A Wee Bit of Bonnie Scotland" on Wednesday, May 18 at 9:00 o'clock. Malcolm Henderson Davie, a "virtuoso on the stirring bagpipes", will bring to our audience a rare musical program of authentic Highland charm, skillfully adapted to the American Concert Stage. Whether pibroch, strathspey, or march, and whether ancient or new, the tunes selected are melodic, easily discernible and pleasing to the ear.

Mr. Davie recently returned to Scotland to do considerable study of the country and reflects in his program that subtle humor for which Scots everywhere are well known.

Various colorful tartans of Scottish clans will be displayed and identified. We'll also learn more about the famous "kilt". The assembly should prove to be most interesting.
