Editorial

by Kathy Shellman

A common topic in many conversations these days is the wild fashions teens are wearing. The fashions get wider every day. The older people frown on them; the teens have them and of course, there are some who take a neutral position in the battle between the old and new.

Myself, I think many fashions these days are wonderful and there are many we could easily do without. An article telling what the Harvard boys think of some of these "way-out" clothes held my interest for a good thirty minutes before writing this. I have often heard of wearing clothes for the occasion. In fact, probably everyone matches his or her outfit to the occasion. But there was one boy who held a different view. He did believe in dressing for the occasion, naturally, but he too believed a girl should wear clothes according to her personality. He comments, "If a girl wears way-out clothes but hasn't the personality, its repulsive, but if she is way-out and wears conservative clothes, it's fine."

Another thinker on the subject said he liked a homely girl who has the good taste to do the most with herself better than an attractive girl who takes no pains whatsoever. These two boys have good taste; it is evident. One could travel forever in the wonderful world of fashion and end up right in the same spot. The one important thing to remember, though, is to dress with good taste. Wear what is right for you - not what is right according to "Seventeen" or "Glamour". The clothes a person wears are not the most important factor; it is the personality of the person stuffed inside the clothes that really counts.

Senior Interview

The honored senior this week is Steven Paul Roeske, the son of Mr and Mrs. Arthur Roeske, Jr. Steve was born on March 14, 1949. He has two sisters Carol and Debbie. Throughout high school Steve's majors have been business and industrial arts. Steve has been a member of Junior Band, Junior and Senior Chorus and has participated in both musicals. He was also in his junior and senior plays. Steve was a member of the wrestling squad during his Freshman year.

We find that his pet peeve is "teachers". He is always heard saying, "You know what you can do if you can't take a joke". His favorites include: color, blue book, "Goldfinger" and Italian food; Steve spends his sparetime hunting, driving and working on cars. He lives by the philosophy "Live today for tomorrow may never come." After graduation Steve plans to attend Bryant and Stratton Business Institute in Buffalo. A. C. S. joins in wishing you, Steve, the very best of everything in the years ahead.

Senior Interview

This week the spotlight is on Gene Leslie Rosintoski, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rosintoski. He was born on February 1, 1949. Gene has three brothers and one sister.

Throughout high school, Gene has majored in Science and Business. Some of the activities which he has participated in are: Varsity Club, three years; Hi-Herald, two years; soccer, three years; basketball, three years; baseball, four years; swimming, one year; and volleyball, three years. He also played the part of Harry in the Junior play.

Other activities outside of school which Gene has taken part in are; Courier Express paperboy, four and one-half years and President of M.Y.F. He was also presented the Courier Express Honorary Editor Award.

Gene's philosophy is: "Help those in need", and his pet peeve is "People who think they are better than anyone else". He is always heard saying "That's what she said". Among Gene's favorites are: color, deep burgandy; book, "The Man With The Golden Gun"; food, roast beef; movie, "Longest Day" and "Goldfinger"; subject, physical education; and hobby, coin collecting.

Gene hopes to attend Corning Community College next year. We all wish you luck, Gene!

Several A.C.S. students were asked the meaning of "kow tow" and here are the responses:

- Cheryl Steadman - another word for one of Mrs. Flaherty's war dances.
Bonnie Nevol - something to give to an enemy.
Steve Roeske - Type of tool, oriental.
Kathy Shellman - sounds like some Chinese food.
David Alvord - a woman.
Jean Harvey - handkerchief.
Nora Halsey - name of a plant.
Robert Joyce - article of clothing.
Linda Middaugh - name of an animal.
Merri Smith - a type of food to feed Bill Clarke.
Steve Baker - something that I'd give to Tom M. to feed his cows.
Bob Congelli - something you pull a cow around with.
The word "kow tow" means to kneel and knock forehead on the ground to pay homage.

Senior Interview

There is a senior around school who has a very wise philosophy. He says, "When choosing your field of work, choose something you are really and honestly interested in, and always be independent." This senior was born on February 3, 1949 to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Nye. He has one sister and two brothers. He is Douglas William Nye. Doug, as we call him, has been quite busy around school. For three years, he has been a member of the FFA; and also the wrestling team. Doug did some fine work on the settings for his junior and senior plays.

Doug has majored in business and his favorite subject is art. His other favorites include: color, burgandy; food, ham; movie, "Goldfinger"; saying, "Bet me?"; and song, "Catch Me If You Can."

Doug has no definite plans for next year, but whatever he chooses to do, we at A. C. S., wish him luck, success and happiness in the years to come.

Home Economic Girls Take Trip
