

Big Game Party Permit Quotas Announced

Nearly 70,000 party permits to take an additional deer will be available for New York's half million big game hunters during the 1966 season, it has been announced by the State Conservation Department.

This is a substantial increase over the 41,000 permits available last year and is a direct reflection of the expanding deer population in certain parts of the State. With three successive mild winters having occurred in the Adirondacks, the Department is concerned about potential heavy starvation losses unless hunters harvest additional deer during the regular big game season.

In the Northern Zone, season dates are Oct. 25 to Dec. 6, while hunters in the Southern Zone can go afield from Nov. 21 through Dec. 6. The Department also reminded hunters that under a new procedure for applying for a party permit, applications must be in not later than August 27th.

Basic dates for the big game season are set by law, but quotas and area boundaries for the party permit system are established by the Conservation Department. Under the party permit program, a party of hunters (varying in size from two to four) may take one deer, with or without another in addition to any deer legally allowed individual members of the party.

For the 1966 season, party permit quotas have been established in 14 areas with five in the Adirondacks, four in the Catskills and five in the Central and Western region. Quotas are based on various factors including results of last year's deer harvest which included a record take of bucks.

The quotas are calculated to provide the level of harvest in each area which is needed to maintain deer in balance with their range.

Quotas and general description of the 1966 party permit areas follow:

Adirondacks: (31,200 permit total)

Area A — 6,300 permits for three-member parties will include portions of Essex, Clinton, Franklin, Hamilton and Warren Counties.

Area B — 7,000 permits for three-member parties will include portions of Herkimer, Hamilton, Warren, Saratoga and Fulton Counties.

Area C — 7,450 permits for three-member parties will include portions of Franklin, Hamilton, Herkimer, Lewis, Oneida and St. Lawrence Counties.

Area M — 10,000 permits for two-member parties will include portions of St. Lawrence and Franklin Counties. With a high percentage of posted land in this area, the Department advises hunters to know in advance they have a place to hunt before applying for a permit.

Area N — 175 permits (plus any balance of landowner preference quota) for four-member parties include portions of Lewis, Jefferson and Oswego Counties, known as the Tug Hill area.

Catskill-Hudson Valley: (13,475 permit total)

Area D — 3,225 permits (plus any balance of landowner preference quota) for three-member parties include portions of Sullivan, Ulster, Greene, Schoharie, Delaware, Otsego, Chenango and Broome Counties.

Area E — 2,250 permits (plus any balance of landowner preference quota) for three-member parties include portions of Delaware, Sullivan and Orange Counties.

Area S — 300 permits (plus any balance of landowner preference quota) for three-member parties include portions of Albany, Greene and Schoharie Counties.

Area W — 863 permits (plus any balance of landowner preference quota) for three-member parties for portions of Columbia, Dutchess and Putnam Counties.

News That's Print To Fit

Well, another one of our pet peeves was brought into focus this week when we had to wait until today to find out who won the Dixie 400 at Atlanta International Raceway on Sunday, Aug. 7th, when we received a Sports Bulletin from the Daytona International Speedway.

Despite the fact that Auto Racing is the 2nd most popular Sport in America, most of the Daily Newspapers won't bother to give it more than a few lines of write-up — if at all. They seem glad enough to accept the money for the Auto Racing Ads — but when it comes to writing up the results — that seems to be a different story.

At any rate, Richard Petty, No. 43, driving his 66 Plymouth, won the Dixie 400 at an average speed of 130.112 miles per hour and will be going for his third straight win at the Asheville - Weaverville Speedway when he goes to the starting line in the Western North Carolina 500 on Sunday, Aug. 21.

We also received a Special Delivery letter in the mail today from the Hq. of the 27th Armd Division in Syracuse with a release date of Aug. 12th (tomorrow). Since the contents of the news item may affect you motorists that will be using the highways this week-end — we are taking the liberty to bring it to your attention today.

According to the news release, "Early Saturday, approximately 7,500 members of the 27th Armd Div. N. Y., Army National Guard will move to Camp Drum near Watertown for two weeks of field training."

Under Command of Maj. Gen. Collin P. Williams of Syracuse, the 7,500 men from units in 40 Communities from Buffalo to Albany will group into convoys, and leave for Camp Drum under pre-arranged schedules.

The Convoys, using more than 1,400 vehicles will get on the N. Y. State Thruway and Route 81 at times when Civilian Traffic will be at a minimum. (So it says.)

From our past experience after 14 years of National Guard Service, Motorists in the Western part of the State can expect to meet small convoys en route to Camp Drum at any time from now until Saturday since the Advance Detachments of each Unit moves out several days ahead of the main body.

Then too, the Units that are moving out of Camp Drum homeward bound, will pretty well take care of a lot of traffic moving in the opposite direction from now thru Saturday.

Thus if you are planning on a trip this week-end, better start a few minutes early — so that if you get slowed down in traffic — you can still reach your destination in time. 10-4?

On the home front, we notice that many of the residents on Elm St., already have graded and seeded between their sidewalks and the new curb — and it sure makes a big improvement in the looks of things up that-a-way doesn't it? Now if it only drains off quickly after a heavy rain, everything will be O.K.

We also noticed that the Village Dump was all cleaned up when we were down there the 1st part of the week — with not one piece of trash, refuse, or garbage on top of the dump. Wonder how many days will elapse before it will be again nigh on-to impossible to even get near the edge of the dump. Seems like the answer will depend on how most of you people treat it when you go down there doesn't it?

We also heard the fire siren blow — just once — Tuesday night around 11:20 p. m., and on checking we found that there hadn't been any fire reported. This led us to wonder if things got so hot down at the Village Board Meeting that one of the Bored Members hit the "Panic Button" on purpose or if someone just made a mistake when they went to turn the lights off. Any Comments?

Children's Day Is Opening Day At Erie County Fair

Moving Children's Day at the Erie County Fair to Saturday last year was so well received that again this year Opening Day, Saturday, August 20, will also be Children's Day. This gives the whole family an opportunity to enjoy the Fair together.

A spectacular 2-hour parade with grotesque costumes, beautiful floats, many, many bands — truly a Mardi Gras parade — will start at Lake and Main Streets, Hamburg, at 11 o'clock. From the starting point the colorful extravaganza will move through Clark Street to the Fairgrounds where it will pass in review before the grandstand. Station WBN-TV will broadcast one hour of the parade.

Leading the parade will be the Kingsmen of Hamburg and about 20 other bands from area high schools will provide music throughout the entire line of march.

Opening Day, Saturday, August 20, the greatest all-western rodeo ever seen in the East will be presented by the Rodeo Cowboys Association, Inc., of Denver, Colorado. You'll see real working cowboys in thrilling exhibitions of bronco riding, Brahma bull riding, calf roping and steer wrestling.

The comic antics of the rodeo clowns serve a double purpose of amusing the spectators and saving performers from injury by enticing broncos and bulls away from fallen riders.

Monday will be International Goodwill Day. Handwork and costumes from at least 56 foreign countries will be on display on the mezzanine of the grandstand building. India, Japan, and South Africa are among the many countries represented.

On International Goodwill Day, African and Irish dances, Croatian music and Guatemalan songs will be presented.

Hubert Castle's world famous three-ring circus will perform for seven full days starting Sunday, August 21, with performances at 2 and 7 p. m.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, world famous thrill drivers will perform their death-defying stunts. Jack Kochman's Hell Drivers will perform Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and Joie Chitwood's Thrill Show will take over on Thursday evening.

Friday, August 26th, is Firemen's Day at Erie County Fair. The day will be climaxed by monster parade of fire-fighters from all over Erie County and adjacent areas at 7 o'clock. Well over 100 units in full uniforms will march past the grandstand. Many will be accompanied by their own bands and bugle and drum corps.

A demonstration of fire-fighting skill will be put on in front of the grandstand at 6 o'clock.

Interesting and educational exhibits on fire prevention will be on display in the Firemen's Building throughout the Fair. Visitors may pick up ideas at these exhibits which could save them from serious loss and inconvenience.

A 100-car Demolition Derby will go on the closing Saturday night. As in previous years, the veterans will parade at 6:30 P. M., on Sunday, the second day of the Fair.
