The bride's table was covered with a lace table clothe made by her mother and lined with gold taffeta and was centered by a four tiered white wedding cake, topped by a white bell encircled with golden leaves and lillies of the valley. The beautiful cake was made by Mrs. Landis Kibbe. Each section was separated by white pillars and swans. Two tall golden candles in cherubs candlelabra flanked the cake. Bouquets of golden flowers completed the decorations in golden motif.

Atten: Mrs. Grace Burger
I read in the Andover News for 29th Sept. 1966 of the building of the Charles A. Robinson Memorial Mausoleum and that they still need some money for building.
Enc. find my check in the amount of fifty dollars ($50.00) to help
toware this project.
My great grandfather and great grandmother, Timothy H. Barker and Flora L. Bledsoe Barker are buried at Valley Brook as are my grandparents, Romeyne V. Akin and Mae Barker Akin. As you may remember I stopped in the bank to see you this past May to check on the lots we have left. I found that we still have 4 which we plan to use.

we plan to use.

I think this is a most worthwhile project for Andover and am pleased to help my little bit.

Do you happen to have a complete typed or written list of all buria's in Valley Brook? If not coes anyone have a list? I would very much like to have a copy for use as I am working on records my use as I am working on records of Andover people — especially the early ones and would appreciate having the cemetery records for Valley Brook. If you can have this done for me please do so

News That's Print To Fit

Well, it seems as if our efforts last week were partly in vain! October 9 - 15 was (or is) both National Newspaper Week, and National Fire Prevention Week.

Thus, despite the fact that from a selfish interest, National Newspaper Week was more important to us personally, we came up with an Editorial on Fire Prevention so that it could tie in with the usual program of the Local Fire Company. (And let our Newspaper Week go for a week.)

program of the Local Fire Com-pany. (And let our Newspaper Week go for a week.)

We called the Fire Hall and asked to speak to Merel Fox, the Fire Chief — but instead Frank came to the phone. After explain-ing the purpose of the call we were told that the Firemen were having some type of program for having some type of program for the ensuing week, but since the meeting was still in progress, the News Release, would be given to us the next day.

The only trouble was that the next day never seemed to arrive! So, whatever plans were made — or carried out — still re-made — or carried out — still remain unknown to us.

Now, what Frank personally thinks of us — is no concern of ours, in fact we could care less — but if he is trying to settle a personal score at the expense of the Fire Company, it seems like "pretty small potatoes".

We have always tried to see the product of the product of the seems of the pretty small potatoes.

due credit whenever it was earned mor deserved, no matter what our personal feelings about some of the members might be. And, we expect the same in return.

Is that asking too much?

Now that we have that off our chest, we will pass along to "Our Week". 'In our Editorial, we mentioned writing a "Letter to the Editor"—so will pass along a few guide lines that are recommended to, and by, all Newspaper Editors. Letters provoke thinking—and they are evidence of readers in terest. When you get the urge to write, here are a few tips to keep in mind: Now that we have that off our

in mind:
(1) Keep it short and interest-(1) Keep it short and interesting. Letters to the editor get high readership because people are interested in other people. Buthy don't want to wade through long epistles.

(2) Use short sentences, keep paragraphs short. This makes your writing interesting, too.

(3) Use a new sentence for each new idea.

(4) Write like you talk. Don't try to write like a college professor.

fessor.
(5) Avoid sarcasm. This is (6) Avoid sarcasin. This is very hard to handle, even for accomplished reporters. You make a bad impression if you start out to hurt somebody's feelings.

(6) Don't be cute. These attempts usually don't come off ac the writers intend.

(7) Make your first shot the most telling. Begin with your strongest argument — or strike at the other side's weakest argument.

(8) Sign your name and list your address. Otherwise, your letter won't even be considered. You may request that your name be withheld. In which case the be withheld. In which case the editor will honor your request or not use the letter at all. Don't law down an unconditional "no editing" rule. This usually results in rejection of the letter.

(9) Don't be hesitant to write when you feel strongly on a public issue. You would be surprised to know how much influence a citizer's letter in a newspaper has izen's letter in a newspaper has.

(10) Keep it short.

Ed. Note: — the above 10 guide lines were taken from the New York Press Association Bulletin dated March 21, 1966. To that we dated March 21, 1966. To that we also might add — nothing will be printed deliberately if it appears to have any material which sounds as if it had a "ring of libel".

and let me know how much I owe for the typing of the list. Hope you have a good winter and that I will be hearing from you soor.

Executive Chamber

"Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without aewapapers, or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter." So wrote Thomas Jefferson to Colonei Edward Carrington in 1787.

This opinion is all the stronger when we recall that no one suffered more abuse from some of taperiodicals of his day than the great philosopher-president.

We of New York — where the finest, most enlightened newspapers in the world are published.

finest, most enlightened newspapers in the world are published—within the last few years have learned to our cost and sorrow what it means to be without the papers of one's choice.

We have learned that the services newspapers render are a necessity of 29th Century life.

I am glad to say that a good future looms ahead of us in this respect. More newspapers are being puchased and read today than ever before, both daily and weekly. Newsprint consumption is at an all-time high, capital outlays for new plants and equipment has topped $100 million a year since 1955 ($144.4 million in 1955) and imployment on newspapers is increasing more randily than total United States complainment. ing more randily than total United States employment.
