Editorial

by Rita Dixon

National Education Week began November 6th and will continue through November 12. During this week, parents are encouraged to visit the schools and colleges their offsprings attend. It is a shame that the whole year is not dedicated to National Education for education is timeless and should be given attention more than a single week of the whole year.

Students, too, should think more about the importance of their education at this time.

Education may be the key to success for your whole life. If you don't agree, just ask someone who didn't graduate from a high school or college. They say people don't appreciate what they have until they lose it. I think we can safely say that people don't appreciate as much as they should. People who haven't had the chance to get a good education, appreciate the opportunity to learn.

If today's students could possibly look into the future, they wouldn't have to be encouraged to make the most of their education.

Future Nurses News

On Friday, October 28, five members of the Future Nurses Club were accompanied by Mr. Russell on a field trip to Myer Memorial Hospital in Buffalo. Marguerite Rick, Duania Geer, Marianne Steyn, Pamela Schaefer and Judy Harvey were given a tour of the hospital and nursing school facilities. They also heard lectures given on the courses offered. They also toured the quarters where the student nurses reside and were given valuable information concerning the hospital. All in all, the trip proved to be an enjoyable one.

Feature

A Day Dedicated To Peace
 by Marguerite Rick

An act passed by the English Parliament during the sixteenth century was destined to become the foundation upon which our present day meaning of Veterans' Day is based. This act was for the benefit of soldiers who as a result of fighting for England were injured or maimed for life. These veterans found life hard and the provisions of this act helped them out a great deal, not only financially, but spiritually.

Veterans' Day in America began as Armistice Day in 1919 to commemorate the treaty which ended World War I.

Armistice Day was celebrated each year, but the true meaning diminished. In 1954, President Eisenhower signed an act of Congress "to honor veterans on the eleventh day of November of each year — a day dedicated to World Peace". As years passed Veterans' Day has come to have its own special meaning for the people of America. In 1919 it honored World War I Veterans, in 1945, World War II Veterans, in 1953 the Veterans of the Korean War and today in 1966 we honor, pay our respects to and offer prayers and encouragement to the men who have fought and are fighting for our interests in Vietnam.

This year on November 11, let's each one of us think of our boys in Vietnam and put the true meaning of Veterans' Day back into Veterans' Day.
