OR

MAKE THAT "ONE" FOR THE ROAD — COFFEE

This year, the nation's Christmas week-end traffic death toll fell far below the all-time high mark set a year ago — and broke a trend of nine successive holiday records.

However, every year many people are killed over the New Year's Holiday needlessly in auto crashes. Last year, around 40 New York State Residents died during a 78 hour New Year's week-end — and this Year, many people will be having a big 4 day vacation!

Special studies of these past accident reports show that drinking drivers had a part in 55 per cent of the fatal crashes.

Let's pause a few minutes during our holiday celebrations to consider some facts which may very well involve your life and the future of your family — as well as others!

We frequently hear the slogans "If you drink — don't drive" and "gasoline and alcohol don't mix" during the year-end celebrations.

The only trouble with this is — many otherwise good motorists don't think the advice applies to them — just someone else. They feel that a few drinks never affects their driving ability. The uncomfortable truth is that these motorists are just plain lucky that they haven't had an accident.

The first part of your brain affected by alcohol when you drink — is the section which controls your judgement. Then your reaction time, vision and coordination are weakened.

Even small amounts of alcohol impair your driving ability. With no outward sign of intoxication you can lose the clearness of mind and critical judgement needed to drive — especially at this time when road conditions are extremely hazardous.

Naturally, some people can "hold their drinks" better than others but why take a chance on being like that character that sits on a bar stool all evening figuring that "one more little one" won't hurt him and then falls flat on his face when he tries to stand up.

The Holiday Season is a time for Religious Worship, family festivities and of course parties. Ironically, this period of good will, fellowship and brotherhood has turned into the most dangerous time of the year for those using our highways.

We don't believe in being like that "ostrich that hides his head in the sand" and saying don't drink over the holidays; However, we do emphatically suggest: "If you are going to drink—do it at home, for at least within walking distance of home". If this is impossible due to circumstances beyond your control — then let someone else drive that isn't drinking.

We feel that if this advice is followed there will be fewer accidents, deaths and last but not least — shattered families!
