An Editorial Washington, Lincoln, and Firearms

February marks the birth anniversaries of two of America's greatest Presidents, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Both of these titanic leaders reached their zenith of greatness while guiding our country through wars which could have killed off the nation at birth or before maturity. Both knew firearms, for military and for sporting purposes.

George Washington spent nearly a quarter of his life under arms. When he died at 67, he had soldiered for 151/2 years. When peace and leisure permitted, he hunted constantly. Hunting was perhaps the favorite and foremost recreation of the Father of His Country.

Abraham Lincoln's numerous biographies note he "hunted" that he "shot wild turkey," and that that he "hunted", that he "shot wild turkey," and that he served in the militia in the Black Hawk War. His interest in firearms, especially in military weapons efficient enough to shorten the Civil War, led him personally to test-fire and approve the Spencer repeater, the first magazine cartridge arm extensively used by U.S. Forces.

Lincoln as commander-in-chief directed probably the biggest rifleman's war in the Western hemisphere, in which by far the highest percentage of casualties were caused by infantry bullets. Like Washington, he fully recognized the role of firearms. For one man, they created a new nation, For the other, they held it

So America was fortunate that both of these heroic wartime leaders of classic stature had a thorough grasp and understanding of firearms.

But the wars themselves, in 1775 and 1861, what did they start over?

In 1775, was it the Stamp Tax, the quartering of British regulars in the nomes of American colonials "taxation without representation", of what?

In 1861, was it the Fugitive Slave Act, "Bleeding hansas", the tariff issue between industrial North and agricultural South, or what?

What actually turned each clash of words into a "shooting war"?

The answer in both instances is very nearly the

In 1775 the shooting began when the British. after methodically disarming every individual Amer ican who left Boston, marched a column of codcoats from Boston to Concord, Mass, to seize the arms of American militia stored there.

In 1861, the first shots were fired over whether a tort in the harbor of Charleston, 3-C, should be evacuated and in effect disarmed.

both wars, then, sprang in their full blown form from efforts to disarm Americans who would not be disarmed

Whenever anyone stops to ast himself what sell! make Americans fighting mad, he might do well to consider 1775 and 1861.

Perhaps, on the anniversaries of Washington and I incoln, that is as timely a thought as any.

(Permission was granted us to reprint the above Editorial by The American Rifleman, Washington D. C., Feb. 1967)

However, what really frightens us, is the apathy of the American Public and the way they are letting the Politicians gradually take our freedoms away from us and invoct the nower in a strong central government that "they" control.

This enables a handful of powerful men to gradually lead us along the "primrose path" to that rosily painted "Island in the Sky" _ called Socialism.

And, when that point is reached, all of the sacrifices of our great Patriots will have been in vain _ for this once great country of ours will more than likely be in the final throes of bankruptcy and despondency with the Citizens back in Bondage!

THE ANDOVER NEWS

Published Weekly by: The News Printing House, Andover, N. Y. Jeanne Backus Allen and Ralph A. Allen. Owners, Andover, N. Y. Entered as Second Class Mail Matter at the Post Office at Andover N. Y., under the Act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

Subscription Price $3.50 a year

50 YEARS AGO

Feb. 23, 1917

J.oH. mackus, Publisher

Mrs. L. P. (Jennie) Crandall, 42, died Saturday, February 17. Her husband, a daughter, her mother, three brothers, three six and a half-brother survive. Burial was in Hillside Cemetery.

ters and a half-brother survive.
Burial was in Hillside Cemetery.
Miss Eilen Hall of Andover and William Furgeson of Hornell were united in marriage Wednesday February 21st by Rev.
Charles Collins.

The second fire of the year came to Andover Monday evening while the members of the Andover Hook and Ladder Company and their guests were enjoying the Seventh Annual Dance. Firemen were called to the O'Donnell Foundry building, and due to the handicap of water, they were able to save only the upright of the building.

Mary Delilah Cochrane, 58 died Thursday, February 9th at her home on First St. Her hus band, John Cochrane and a sister, Mrs. DeEtta Bullard survive. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery.

Mr and Mrs. Earl Leon of vive. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leon of Call Hill are the parents of a son. Arthur Clair, born last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Kenyon are the parents of a daughter, born Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A Lowry of ludependence are the parents of a daughter, born Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Green and mughter, born Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Green and discounter, Fern of Independence are guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Thompson a' Couderspott, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. I. P. VanWoert of Conting were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Frisbey, Sunday Mrs. William Reed of Canisteo has been visiting at the home of her father, Calvin Slocum this week.

Week.
Mrs. fiells. Spender of Alfred Station was one guest. f her beather Almozo Slocum Tuesday
Miss. Hazel Hulbert of wers
Miss Hazel week guest.

miss Hazel Hulbert of wellsille is spending the week guest of her and Mrs. William Rogers
Mr. and Mrs. Cloyn Daxis and sons of Perry were Andover vis itors over the week end.

40 YEARS AGO

Feb 25, 1927 Berkus & Son, Palatal

a. tot. F. Mend, 31, of Horizon in formerly of Andover was crished between two ramoad ars Wednesday night and died shortly after in the St. James, Mercy Hospital His widow, chree children, his father, three sisters and three brothers survive. Hildred S. Rogers, 29, died Thursday, February 24th. Fis widow, a daughter and his rather survive. Interment was in Hill side Cemetery.

survive Interment was in Hill side Cemetery.

The early Robins seen and heard in the South Hill locality last week were short lived in the bad weather of Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Brewster and daughter, Ida Annette, of West Green wood, have been spending a fewdays this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Miller of Hornell.

Hornell.

Mrs. Mary Greene returned to

Mrs. Mrs. Mary Greene returned to

Hay from Tip Top where she has been spending the past week with her son, Edward and family.

Jim Wallace is spending a few days with his brother, Ephricm

Wallace

days with his brother, Epintal Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Perry are moving from the J. M. Hartrum Farm to a farm between Greenwood and Canisteo. Edward Padden will work the Hartrum farm the coming year.

Cashier and Mrs. John E. Cannon have returned home afternasing a week guest of Mr. Cannon's sister, Mrs. Jesse Philips and family of New York City.

District Deputy A. D. Fuller made his Official Visit to Friendship F. & A. M. Lodge Monday evening. B. S. Brundage, A. R. Baker and W. S. Calhoun accommade the ship F. & A. M. Long.

evening. B. S. Brundage, A. K.
Baker and W. S. Calhoun accompanied him.

Miss Felma DeRemer was a

at the home of her sister guest at the home of her sister Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crossett of

by Johannes Laursea

TO PROTECT THE PUBLIC
The first bill of the session, introduced as Senate No. 1, proposed an innovation in State government, the establishment of the office of "Ombudsman" in New York State. While new in America, such an office of Parliamentary Commissioner or Public Protector has long existed abroad. Sweden was the pioneer, having had an Ombudsman for civilian affairs since 1809 and for the military since 1915. Finland followed suit is 1919, and Denmark in 1952, Norway. New Zealand and, in part, Great Britain have adopted similar systems. part, Great similar systems.
The United States fan", the similar systems.

In the United States there is only on "Ombursfan", this Swedish name meaning "one who represents someone" adopted without translation. He functions in Nastranslation. He functions in Nassau County under a temporary appointment made by Democratic County Executive Eugene Nickerson, who thus has the honor of having sparked the current discussion on other governmental levels. Mr. Nickerson, perhaps wisely, chose a Republican, retired Judge Samuel Greason, to be the first Ombudsman. The interest in the office is by no means confined the office is by no means confined to one party. Senate No. 1 was introduced by Republican Senator John Dunne, also of Nassau. As-

Arkport Sunday and Monday.
A. O. Kemp and W. N. Rice returned Saturday night from a motor trip to Ithaca: They were dinner guests on their return of Leon Bloss of Waverly.

30 YEARS AGO A-L. 19, 1937.

a sister and three brothers survive.

Paul Geer, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Geer of Andover, has purchased the Payne Pharmacy a Ellicottville. N. Y. in which he has been employed as pharmicist for the past few months.

W. N. Rice has sold his home and truck garden on Chestnut St., to Charles Gath. Mr. Gath will take possession April 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Clarke Mrs. C. M. Crandall, Mrs. R. E. Spicer and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clarke are attending Farm and Home Week at Ithaca this week Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Dawson of Depew spent from Friday until Sunday with relatives in And-andor with relatives in Andover.

Miss Edna Barrett of Buffalo visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs George Barrett at their home on Corwin Hill, Saturday and Sun

Corwin Hill, Saturday and Surday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Ruger and daughter, Lois, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Kibler of Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Childs and family and Charles Rogers were Saturday and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wales of Elmira.

Elmira.
Miss Doris Church of Campbell Creek and Miss Roberta Church of the Bath Extension School passed the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Church.

Mrs. Eugene Nobles and daugh-ter, Patricia of Towanda. Pa-visited her brother and family Mr. and Mrs. Robert Church Sun-day and Monday. Eugene Nobles and daughsembly Minority leader Perry Dur-yea established a committee of five Republican Assemblymen to study the proposal and make rec-ommendations. On the Democra-tic side, besides Mr. Nickerson's initiative on the County level, a bill was prefiled by Assemblyman Edward Stevenson, of the Bronx.

OMBUDSMAN'S FUNCTIONS

OMBUDSMAN'S FUNCTIONS

The function of the Ombudsman is to represent the individual citizen in the examination of possible abuses of authority in governmental agencies. As government and, unhappily, bureaucracy keep growing year after year, so do the possibilities of misuse of power, of harm to the interests of individual citizens. True, they can always resort to the courts, but that becomes expensive and time-consuming. Most aggrieved people therefore are inclined to shrug off an injustice with a "you cannot fight City Hall", but that is not a healthy situation in a democracy.

democracy. The Ombudsman system has The Ombudsman system has worked successfully abroad. Experience has shown that usually a majority of the complaints coming before the Ombudsman will, upon investigation, be termed unjustified, but even this is a valuable service and a reassurance to all concerned.

uable service and a reassurance to all concerned.

The office does not duplicate the work of any existing official. It differs sharply from the District Attorney's office which concerns itself only with cases where a crime is suspected. If the Ombudsman comes across such cases, he turns them over to the District Attorney for investigation and possible prosecution. The Ombudsman will only have the power created by the prestige of his findings while. If he finds in favor of a complainant, it is up to the artected branch of government to rectify whatever wrong has been done to the individual Public pressure will help to assure this Good government will have noth Good government will have nothing to fear and should be expected to welcome this new reassurance rather than scramble to get exempted from the Ombudsman's sphere. ted from the Ombudsman's sphere. He is not set up to harass officials or create suspicion MAJOR QUESTIONS

MAJOR QUESTIONS

There appears to be broad public support for the new institution, and Legislators are interested. However, there are many practical questions. Denmark has 4.7 million, Sweden 7.7 million, but New York 18 million inhabitants. Should there be one Ombudsman's office for the whole State or a separate one for New York City, as well as for major counties? Should the Governor or the Legislature select the Ombudsman? Senate No. 1 said the Governor, but that seemed incongruous to many, since the said the Governor, but that seemed incongruous to many, since the executive branch would be the one the Ombudsman should keep an eye on. Senator Dunne amended his stand to appoint by two-thirds of each house of the Legislature decision, and it could well be that the Constitutional Convention would have something to say about decision, and it could well be that the Constitutional Convention would have something to say about the matter. When Denmark got a new Constitution in 1953, a brief paragraph provided the basic authorization for an Ombudsman. and a new law the following year spelled out the particulars.

Most important for the success of the new office would be finding the right man for it. He would almost certainly have to be a lawyer, perhaps with bench experience. He must be recognized as being as impartial as possible. Political aspirations would be detrimental.

itical aspirations would be detri-mental. If the right man is found, and he is given reasonable cooper ation and working conditions, the Ombudsman office could become a major factor in securing better relations between the public and the evergrowing governmental set-