Editorial

On April 16, 1967, the Library Rotunda of the New York State Education Building in Albany became the sight of a spectacular centennial display of Free Education in New York State. This display is one means of commemorating the One Hundredth Anniversary of Free Education in our State.

It is important for all New Yorkers to become fully aware of this important occasion. This centennial year is the appropriate time for all of us to honor those who won the right for free public schools. Now is the time to assess what has been achieved in New York State Education. Under the leadership of the Regents and the Commissioner of Education, a foundation of quality free public education has been built in our State. This foundation is governed by our basic constitutional provisions.

Here in Andover, the people can be very proud that they have also contributed greatly to the system of free education. In 1959, a new addition was made to the original school building. At this particular time an elementary school library is being established. Many of our students are participating in the vocational program at Belmont. Many changes have been made over the last few years but change must always accompany progress. And so we too have helped to further the system of free education.

Senior Interview

David Irving Whitesell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Whitesell, was born October 19, 1948. He has four brothers, Dick, Ronnie, Donald and Milford, and two sisters, Betty and Darla.

Dave's favorites include: food meat, color dark blue, subject agriculture, song, "Girl On The Telephone", and the movie "The Graduate". He also enjoys reading novels and watching Westerns.

During high school, David has participated in Future Farmers' Association for three years, soccer, four years and track, three years. Presently, he is attending a two-year evening course at the Belmont Vocational Center.

David follows the philosophy: "Don't talk to all girls you don't know."

From his friends at A. C. S. "Good Luck Dave!"

Juniors Take Test

The Juniors took their S. A. T. Aptitude test on Saturday, May 6, 1967 at Wellsville High School. This test is a preliminary college entrance exam.

Those who participated were: Dale Potomateer, Rosemary Baer, Charles Joyce, David Leon, Roger Barnes, Susan McClure, Susan Reil, Mary Ellen Corwin, Betty Burch, Joe DeBener and Walter Hurlburt.

The S. A. T. is a step toward higher education and a richer, fuller life through knowledge. Congratulations, Juniors, and good luck on your scores.

Roving Reporter

The people were asked, "What is a satrap?" Here are the answers:

Kathy Joyce - "I hope it is something to eat."

Gayle Clarke - "I would put it in my locker and hope it didn't escape."

Marianne Meyn - "It is a trap, I might get caught in it."

Linda Middaugh - "It is a mouse-trap for people."

Cheryl Steadman - "It is something Larry Smith would eat."

Noreen Thorp - "It is something you trap animals in."

Juanita Graves - "I would throw it right away."

Camilla Wallace - "I would wear it."

Darlene Lehman - "I would take it on a picnic."

Miss Troxell - "It must be something that should be put in the Home Ec Room."

In reality, a "satrap" was a governor of a province in Ancient Persia.
