Educational Secretaries Hold Meeting At Scio

Joanne G. Allen reports that the Allegany County Association of Educational Secretaries met at Scio Central School Tuesday evening, August 29th at 7:30 p. m. with Virginia Kruger, Lillian Simons and Ruth Connor acting as hostesses. The group was welcomed by Principal Al Brush in the school cafeteria. Plans for attending the State Conference of the New York State Association of Educational Secretaries to be held in New York City September 29 and 30, 1967 were discussed, with many of the local members planning to attend.

A County-wide workshop will be held in October at Alfred-Almond Central School, to coincide with the Central Western Zone Teachers' Conference held annually in Rochester. President of the county organization, Virginia Wheeler and Shirley Lane, Marilyn Lockwood, Arline Roberts, and Evelyn Thomas will act as hostesses. The day's activities will include a demonstration by a consultant from I. B. M. Corporation.

Under official business, the group appointed Miss Wheeler as its official delegate to the State Advisory Council and approved affiliation with the State organization for another year. Mrs. Grace Knibb, secretary to the Principal at Fillmore Central School, resigned as Secretary of the County Association. President Wheeler will appoint a replacement in October at the quarterly meeting.

The secretaries toured the school building and were served refreshments by the hostesses.

Quarterly Installment Notices

The North Atlantic Region Internal Revenue Service, announced today that of 900,000 installment notices for third quarter estimated income tax being issued commencing August 26, about 33,000 will be in error. These notices will be sent to taxpayers throughout the Region which comprises the New England states and New York State.

The erroneous notices do not reflect credit for second quarter payments, most of which were received late. Computation of payment due for the third installment, therefore, includes the second installment.

Taxpayers who receive these bills should subtract the amount of the second quarter payment and remit only the correct installment with a copy of the notice. In most instances, the correct installment will equal one-half the amount billed.

Kiddies Pictures This Year Taken In Color

For many years the Andover News has been running a pictorial feature of the youngsters in this area as "Citizens of Tomorrow." In the near future we will again be publishing free a picture of all the children who are brought by their parents or other guardian to the Ken Vars Men's and Boys' Wear Store between 12 Noon and 5:30 p. m. on Thursday, September 21st.

Living Color

An expert children's photographer will take the pictures to assure uniform quality and size for best re-production — and this year will be taken in natural living color. Please dress your children colorfully to take full advantage of the beauty of color photography. The pictures will run in black and white in the newspaper.

No Cost To Parents

There are absolutely no strings to this invitation nor are there any charges to the parents — they do not have to be subscribers or even readers of this newspaper to participate. Neither are the parents obligated to purchase any of the color pictures taken.

Those who might desire color photographs may obtain them by making arrangements with the Studio Representative when they select the pose they wish to see printed in the Andover News.

Appointments

Appointments may be made by calling Mrs. Clifford Howland phone number 478-4404.

While appointments are not necessary to have your children photographed it could avoid your having to wait. Check this date on your calendar now and help us make this a memorable community feature.

LIVING UNDER LAW

CITIZEN'S ARREST

The fear that crime is on the rise has caused some groups to "lend a hand" at law enforcement.

Since the days of common law, citizens have played a role, often a risky one to deter crime.

New York law gives a citizen limited power to make an arrest. To help keep the peace, the citizen can stop any crime that takes place in his actual presence. Petty thefts, disturbing the peace, assaults, and other "misdemeanors" fall into this class. He can use "reasonable force" to bring the offender in, but no more.

If a felon, has been committed — burglary, assault, or the like — the citizen can again use reasonable force to make an arrest. He can chase and catch the offender. Should he be mistaken, the law still may regard his arrest to be in "reasonable cause." If he had good reasons to suspect a person of burglary or other felonies.

Citizens who take the law into their own hands several times a year.

risks. Suppose the act was not a felony, and suppose the citizen acts on second hand information. Then a court may later say that information from a neighbor, employee, or from one's child was not correct. The arrest was without "reasonable cause." If so, the arrested person can sue and hold the citizen for damages for "false arrest." This can be costly. It is far better, if you can, to call a police officer.

When you attempt an arrest, you have to tell the person that he is under arrest. Otherwise, he can lawfully resist. You may, use enough, but no more force than necessary to hold and turn the person over to the police. If you use excessive force, the courts can make you pay for injuries you caused. If the "excessive force" results in death, one can be held for homicide. So don't get too tough.

The law encourages private citizens to report crimes to the police rather than to take the physical and legal risks of making arrests themselves. In reporting such crimes the citizen has no civil liability if it turns out that he was mistaken, so long as he acted in good faith.
