by Mary Ellen Corwin Don't Be Afraid To Think!

Don't be afraid to think. You've heard that statement before—from books, television and especially teachers. But what are they talking about — being afraid to think. Why, everybody thinks, don't they? Or do they?

So many times when people are effection new ideas or new mater-

So many times when people are offering new ideas or new material on a subject, one tends to close his mind, saying to himself, "I've already made up my mind about that. Whatever he says won't influence my decision a bit." That makes about as much sense as the old eliche, "My mind is made up. Don't ronfuse me with the facts" it is only polite to listen to a speaker and to let his words enter the thinking process before either accepting or rejecting what he is saying.

accepting or rejecting what he is saying.

Of course, this can be in the reverse situation, too. One might he ignorant about a subject, and therefore accept anything anyone has to say on the subject.

This idea of not wishing to listen is also true when a person is confronted with philosophies differing from his own, and he may be afraid to consider them as truths because they contradict all that he has always believed But as he learns to accept them, lift becomes easier.

It is understandable that all the philosophies and beliefs may not be true or lorical, but one must learn to if not accept, at least consider in we ideas and thoughts.

Above all in mast may be afraid to thim.

New Teacher

This week we are interviewing the School Nurse, Mrs. Joyce Van Stine, who is spending her first year in Andover.

Mrs. Van Stine who is a grad-bate of the University of Pitts-birgh, served three years in the United States Navy as a Navy Nurse. While in the Navy she met her husband, William Edward Van Stine. Last year Mrs. Van Stine taught practical nursing in Vineland, New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Stine have bought a farm outside of Andover and moved there in July Mr. Van Stine trains bird dogs and is developing a shooting preserve.

Student Opinion

Student Opinion

Think for a minute! What is the most popular and common statement around Andover Central? Does "What is there to do in Andover this week-end?" sound familiar? This is a very good question. There is a movie, but who wants to go to the movies every Friday and Saturday night? There have been dances, one every two months if we're lucky. There is really very little the teen-ager con go to in Andover.

Therefore, it is my opinion that Andover needs a Recreation Council, similar to other area towns.

Let's all get together to solve this problem and keep our teen agers in town on week end. If the students of A C S get together, I am sure w. can come up with solve excellent ideas
