If you hear anyone say he'd rather smoke than eat, he may be telling you the truth. Tobacco production's been surpassing wheat in the U.S. by more than 500 million pounds per year. That means over a billion pounds of tobacco a year! But if you've stressed eating more than smoking in the past year, you may be in for a pleasant surprise. Farmers and Traders Life Insurance Company has a new non-smokers policy that's aimed right at you. Haven't smoked a cigarette during the past year? We'll charge you less for your insurance. This is the kind of P.I. or personalized insurance, individualized to your circumstances. Why don't you check with me for full details? After all, you should get some kind of reward for cutting down on smoking.
