"Your Federal Income Tax" Booklet

When you prepare your 1967 Federal income tax return, you may come across a perplexing tax problem. If you do, you may find the answer in the 1968 edition of "Your Federal Income Tax".

This booklet contains answers to almost every question taxpayers ask when preparing their tax returns. The booklet features a sample filled-in 1967 Form 1040 return, including separate Schedules B and D. It contains numerous easy-to-understand examples illustrating application of the tax law to actual situations.

John E. Foley District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Buffalo and "Your Federal Income Tax" is available by writing to Internal Revenue at 34 West Mohawk Street, Buffalo, New York 14202 and costs 50c a copy.

It may also be obtained from the United States Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402 and orders to that office should contain check or money order payable to the Superintendent of Documents.

Families with an after-tax income of over $5,000 spend an average of 14 to 17 per cent of their income on transportation, and most of that is for the family automobile.
