Greenwood Central School News

The school officials have announced that the construction work at the Greenwood Central School is almost completed. A few last minute details are all that remain inside the building along with some exterior grading work.

The pool will be officially opened this week with the first adult use of the pool on Tuesday evening, April 2. This will be the regular adult night until further notice. Instruction will be given to non-swimmers and beginners from 7:00 - 8:00 P. M. Recreational swimming and swimming for advanced students will be from 8:00 - 9:30 P. M.

Saturday morning, April 6, swimming will be offered the youth in the area under the Town Recreation Project for all students up to grade 6 from 9:00 - 10:30 A. M. and Grades 7 - 12 from 10:30 A. M. to 12:00. As soon as there has been some instruction at the school, there will be a family night where parents will be invited to come and either swim with their family or supervise them on Tuesday night. A certified life guard will be present at all times. Terry Beckwith will be the pool director.

Rules and regulations relative to the pool and health have been sent home with all students in grades 2 - 12. The regulations relative to diseases and foot health will also apply to adults. If anyone wishes a copy of the pool regulations that did not receive one may contact the school.

The construction changes that will be of interest to anyone in the community that has not seen them, are the Science Room and Lab, Library and Commercial Room in the upstairs area. The Health and Guidance Offices are located just inside the south entrance. The Cafeteria and Music Department have both been remodeled and added on to. The school has one of the finest Industrial Arts and Shop facilities in Steuben County.

The building was open for inspection on Tuesday, April 2nd from 7:00 - 9:30 P. M.
