Dr. Ben R. Crandall

Dr. Ben R. Crandall, 94, prominent educator, Alfred University figure since 1939, and Seventh Day Baptist layman, died in Bethesda Community Hospital, North Hornell, Thursday night, July 11, 1968 after a brief illness. His home was at 5 Sayles St., Alfred.

Born in the Town of Independence, Dec. 31, 1873, he was a son of Sherman G. and Lenora Wood Crandall. Dr. Crandall was graduated from Union High School in Whitesville in 1891 from Bryant & Stratton Business College, Buffalo, in 1892, and from Andover High School in 1893. He received the B.S. degree from Alfred University in 1899, the B.Ped. degree from the University of Wyoming in 1905, the M.A. degree from the University of Denver in 1905, and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Denver in 1914. Alfred University conferred the honorary degree of Dhd., on Dr. Crandall in 1911.

The noted educator began his long teaching career in the hamlet of Independence, where he taught grade rural school in 1893-1902, and 1896-97. He was principal at Hammond, La., 1899-1902, city superintendent at Rawlins, Wyo., 1902-07, and city superintendent at Idaho Falls, Ida., 1907-15.

Moving to California, Dr. Crandall served as supervising principal at Holtville from 1915 to 1919; city superintendent at San Bernardino, 1919-21; and state supervisor of agricultural teacher training and lecturer in education at the University of California, 1921-24.

Dr. Crandall was president of California State Polytechnic College, from 1924 to 1933, and district superintendent in Kern County, Calif., 1933-37. After a two-year term as instructor of business law, economics and social science at Wasco Union High School, he retired from the California Public School System in 1939, following 42 years of service.

Becoming associated with Alfred University in 1939, Dr. Crandall served as vocational counselor and placement secretary from 1939 to 1947, and as lecturer in the Alfred University School of Theology, 1939-53. He was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity; Lambda Chapter, Phi Delta Kappa, national honor education fraternity; Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society; and Alpha Tau Alpha, professional agricultural education society.

Dr. Crandall was listed in "Who's Who in American Education," "Leaders in Education," and "Who's Who in New York". He was the author of numerous articles, member of the National Education Association, former president of the Idaho State Teachers Association, and holder of life diplomas in secondary education and vocational agriculture and school administration in California.

During his long years of service to the Seventh Day Baptist denomination, Dr. Crandall served as Sabbath School teacher and superintendent; was deacon of the First Alfred SDB Church; trustee of SDB Western Association, Inc.; denominational director of finance; and president of the General Conference in 1940.

Dr. Crandall was sent by the denomination to make an educational survey of Jamaica, G.W.I., in 1947. As a result, Crandall High School, named for the educator, was established in Kingston, Jamaica.

Dr. Crandall made a similar survey and report on conditions in British Guiana, South America, in 1948.

Affiliated with The Methodist Church while residing in the West, Dr. Crandall served that denomination as Sunday School teacher and superintendent, headed several fund drives, served as president of the M. E. Brotherhood, and as member of the executive committee, Federated Church Brotherhoods of California.

Dr. Crandall was a member of University Lodge No. 944 of Alfred; past president of the Alfred Garden Club; director of the Alfred Mutual Savings & Loan Assn., member of the National Retired Teachers Assn.; past president of the San Luis Obispo, Calif., Rotary Club, and delegate to the Rotary International convention in 1928; and had been associated with the Boy Scouts and the Y.M.C.A. in California.

Surviving are a son, Burton B., of Alfred, and four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Mrs. Crandall died in 1961.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Alfred SDB Church by the Rev. David Clarke, pastor. Burial was in Alfred Rural Cemetery.

"Subterranean Termites" Pamphlet Free To Homeowners

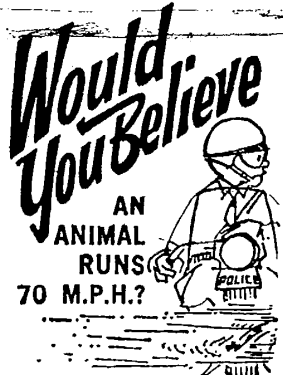

Homeowners and people building new homes will be interested in the pamphlet, "Subterranean Termites," offered free as a public service by the State University College of Forestry at Syracuse University. The leaflet was prepared by Dr. John B. Simeone, chairman of the Department of Forest Entomology, and a specialist in the field of wood-destroying insects.

Dr. Simeone points out that due to the secretive nature of termite activity, they are often difficult to detect. The usual tell-tale signs include the presence of earthen tubs, collapse of damaged wood, swarming of winged termites accompanied by the shedding of wings near exit holes, and by exposure of the insects during structural alternations.

Ants are often mistaken for termites. The main differences include the facts that ants do not lose their wings as readily as do termites; ant "workers" are black or shades of brown, but termite "workers" are cream-colored; and ants have a constricted "waist", while termites are thicker in this region.

Because termites can build earthen tunnels over obstacles to get to wood, it is necessary to take special preventive measures to guard against attack. Both mechanical and chemical controls are covered in the illustrated folder. A map, showing danger areas of heavy termite attack, is also included. To get a copy, send a postal card to: Publications, State University College of Forestry at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y. 13210.

Bride: "The two things I cook best are meat loaf and onion soup."
He: "Which is this?"

There's only one that does—the cheetah, world's fastest animal. Smooth and lithe, the cheetah lopes along fast enough to break speed laws on most of our highways. He's safe from jungle traffic tickets, however. Nothing can catch him.

Speed is the cheetah's trade-mark. Protection is the trade-mark of the mortgage cancellation plan of Farmers and Traders Life Insurance Company. Under this fine plan, a family is given cash to pay off the mortgage if something happens to the household head. Think what this can mean in added security. If it sounds good to you, just let me know and I'll explain this "personalized" insurance plan in detail.
