AUTUMN

Autumn has begun and with it the many warm, beautiful days typical of late September. Many people do not care for the Autumn months, for with them is the end of summer and a prelude to winter.

Autumn is the most colorful and beautiful time of year. A golden haze hangs in the air lending a touch of peace and calm. The trees are in all their glory with their multi-colored leaves. The wooded hillsides are a mass of yellow, orange, red, and brown. It is as if someone took a paintbrush and splashed colors on a great canvas.

Autumn is symbolic to many things. Most common to our country is the harvest which comes with the full moon. Even the ancient Greeks and Romans honored the harvest month in the forms of the goddesses, Demeter and Ceres.

The magic of Autumn is beautifully shown in this poem by an unknown author.

"Just after the death of the flowers
 And before they are buried in snow,
 There comes a festival season
 When Nature is all aglow."

Today's Students

by Chris Bergerson

Many of today's students do not take studying seriously enough. They say, "I'll get by somehow." They don't realize that this is their only chance to get somewhere in the world - by education. Some of them do realize that schooling is important, but it is easier for them to sit around and do nothing. If they do not pay attention now and don't make the most of this opportunity, they are giving up their chances to build a better world tomorrow.

CIGARETTE SMOKING: Just How Dangerous?

en would bring the total to more than 300,000." Dr. Terry's statement has been accredited as accurate by the present Surgeon General, Dr. William H. Stewart.

The danger is greater for teenagers. Among men who began smoking when they were teenagers, the death rate is 100 percent higher for smokers than for non-smokers.

Ten times more people will die of lung cancer in the United States this year than in 1950.

"Unfortunately, lung cancer is a largely incurable disease because it is extremely difficult to diagnose", states the American Cancer Society. "Only about five percent of all cases are being saved today. Lung cancer is directly related to smoking."

Two other diseases associated with smoking are also taking an increasing death toll—emphysema and coronary heart disease. Emphysema is an irreversible and frequently fatal lung malfunction attributed to heavy smoking. In 1966 it caused over 12,000 deaths.

The State Mutual Life Assurance Company of America, Worcester, Mass., also recognizes the hazards of cigarette smoking. The Company offers a life insurance plan with a lower premium on new policy issues for persons who have not smoked any cigarettes for one year or longer. State Mutual feels that non-cigarette smokers are better insurance risks and, therefore, deserving of a premium saving.

Former Surgeon General Luther Terry, states, "Studies of mortality rates of smokers and non-smokers indicate that 250,000 men will die prematurely each year from diseases associated with cigarette smoking. An estimate of deaths among wom-
