VOL. 105, NO. 1 Andover, N. Y. Thursday, Jan. 2, 1969 Published Weekly by The News Printing House, Andover, N. Y. $3.50 year, 10c copy

Hope your trip through 1969 will be a happy and healthy one.

Here is a graphic portrayal of the true size of some of the large "breeder trout" that were killed in Dyke Creek from the "overhead" down stream to Elm Valley as an after math of the gasoline tanker wreck that dumped around 5,000 gallons of gas into one of Andover's trout streams.

The State Conservation Department with the assistance of the Andover Rod & Gun Club had stocked the stream with breeder trout this past fall to improve the local angling situation.

A survey after the recent trailer-truck accident by local sportsmen, showed that most of the fish in the stream were killed for several miles below the overhead bridge.

State Officials have been notified and promised to re-stock the Creek as soon as possible.
