7th Inning Stretch!

If you were one of the 30 who braved the cold last Sunday to see the Redwings opener, you know what the "7th Inning Stretch" is! Especially that lucky winner!

If you would like more information about the "7TH INNING STRETCH" attend the Redwings ball game this Sunday against Rushford and you might be a winner also!

Appreciation

I wish to express my appreciation to my relatives, neighbors and friends for the cards, flowers and other remembrances sent to me while I was in the hospital.

Local Potter Exhibits At Corning

Greenwood Hill potter, George Weltner, was one of the craftsmen whose work was selected by a jury for exhibit last week at the Corning Glass Center. Mr. Weltner's entry was a flameproof casserole, glazed in black and mottled with a copper lustre.

After many years as a member of the executive staff of a large medical care plan in New York City, Mr. Weltner retired and became a student at Alfred University where he received his Master of Fine Arts degree in 1967. He lives and has his pottery studio on the former Clarence Simmons farm, now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mills, Jr.
