The World's Best Company

This week is the book fair. We generally think of books as something lying around... with nice covers and small print. However, books are not just objects...

Even from ancient times, books have been used to record man's education, customs, and life. Today, these written experiences of our predecessors serve as documents to guide us in time of strife...

As we read, we enter a new realm, passing from our life of days-gone-by. Our imaginations enable us to travel from one era to another, sharing the experiences of all men. As Helen Keller once said, "Truly each new book is as a ship that bears us away from the finity of our limitations into the movement and splendor of life's infinite ocean."

This week, let's stop thinking of books as time-wasters, filled with unbelievable gabble, but rather allow ourselves to enter their realm. To quote from T. Cuyder, "All the goodly company of the excellent and great sit at my table, and look upon me from yonder shelves, waiting patiently to answer my questions, and enrich me with their wisdom."

LET'S RUN THE TRUTH UP THE FLAGPOLE
By Vant Naff

Some things you wouldn't have believed possible only ten years ago...

• Clergymen indicted for plotting and planning to blow up government buildings.
• Students telling the teachers what to teach!

• The United States government is economically tied with Communist China and Russia.
• A band of so-called black liberationists to the defense of a black and avowed Communist, Angela Davis, because she is black!

• U.S. Congressman elect...
• A...

• The ordinary Polish citizens, weary of Soviet tyranny, rebelling against their Russian oppressors.
• The total climate of permissiveness that is turning America into the "land of discontent" and the home of the ill-behaved.

Suggestion: Every time the Viet Cong toss a bomb into a Saigon hospital, theatre or marketplace, killing and maiming innocent people, let's let the American people know that we give it as much as they give it to our troops by the South Vietnamese and the U.S. military!

Sure, a worker has the right to strike. But what you lead him while he strikes? Or didn't you know that striking workers can get government food stamps, for with your tax money...

Naturally, nobody would begrudge aid to someone who is down on his luck. But a man who goes out on strike is placing a double imposition on you and your neighbors. He's cutting vital services and goods...

Here's a suggestion: Haven't you ever noticed how many people in a city are on a strike? If it's a strike, why not let the government know that it's a strike? (What other name for an "under-the-table" bribe?) is offered to the people who agree to rent vacant apartments on a temporary basis to people on strike?

It's not up to the government to provide housing for the unemployed. It's up to the government to provide housing for the unemployed. It's up to the government to provide housing for the unemployed.

It's not up to the government to provide housing for the unemployed. It's up to the government to provide housing for the unemployed. It's up to the government to provide housing for the unemployed.

sanitation men strike. If you don't mind freezing while the delivery men say, "No till I get more money!" - then continue leading your tax supporters...

... important tax money that's what they least off while they're blackmailing the public for more, more, more. Let's stop being suckers. Agreed, a man does have the right to strike. But the unions have taken funds to take care of the strike. So let them strike. It's not up to the government...
