SALUTATORY

by Jean Marie Wickham
MASTER BUILDER OF CHARACTER

The Rev. Mr. Elliott, Rev. Clergy, Mr. Kessler, Members of the Board of Education, Faculty, parents and friends. We, the class of 1971, sincerely welcome you to our commencement exercises.

Tonight is a very special night for all of us. It is one of the major turning points in our lives. From this moment on we will no longer be sheltered by this school, our family or old friends. We must begin to shape a new life for ourselves, build walls to protect ourselves, and find friends to become a part of this new life.

As I leave, I feel a multitude of mixed emotions. I feel the satisfaction of my graduation, and at the same time the uncertainty of the future. I am torn between the sadness of leaving the happy times in this school and old friends and the excitement of the years to come. But, as I look around, my apprehensions lessen, for I see that I have two major factors of the past going with me — the support of my family and friends and the education that I have acquired in this school.

Looking back through the year's. I'm sure we can all see how greatly we have been affected by our family life. Our parents have guided, taught, and developed us in a variety of ways. I also find that our education has done much the same thing.

There have been two sides to our education — our studies and our activities. Through our studies we have seen the many sides of ancient and modern man. We have examined his downfalls and his triumphs, hopefully to make fewer mistakes and more progress in the future. Here also, we have been taught the meaning of looking at and questioning all sides. To the world today and tomorrow there is not a more valuable lesson.

The second side of our education our social activities I think sometimes are shamefully underestimated. These seemingly small happenings around town play, like our families and studies, a vital part in the building of our characters. It is through these organizations the dances, and the sports that we have become human beings. Here I have learned the meaning of kindness, of understanding, and of consideration. I have learned how to cope with all sorts of problems and frustrations. It was through these student and student-teacher friendships that many of us have discovered and developed our personalities and abilities. It has been through this facet of our education that we have formulated our life-time values and ideals.

Today we live in a fast moving rapidly changing world — a world full of extremes in every field and faction. In our lifetimes, we will come into contact with an overwhelming number of people and problems and what we have learned through our parents, our studies, and our past experiences will be the basis for our dealing with our everyday life. Yes, the years in this school have been important ones. Each facet is important and special in its own way and none should be taken for granted. Now we must strive to go on developing ourselves beyond this school, but A.C.S. will always hold a special place in our minds and hearts. The memories and the education that we have gained here will remain with us forever.

Thank you.

A program on Handyman by Randy Slade and Eric Wilson. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wahl.

We also held a special meeting on June 19th to fill out Fair entries and make final plans for the 4th of July Float.

Allegany County YMCA Offers Resident Camping

Through a cooperative program with the Olean and Jamestown YMCA's, the Allegany County YMCA is offering a summer resident camping program.

A registered nurse resides in Camp.

Other facilities include a large main lodge, and dining hall, craft shop, infirmary, archery range, cabins, tents, nature lodge, canoes, rowboats, war canoe, sailbar, two power-boats, and a real Chinese "Junk".

When the A.C.S. Kindergarten Classes visited the Andover Fire Department recently they really had the "thrill of their lives" as the Firemen allowed each of the children to take their turn squirting water thru the Pumpers fire hose.
