Not long ago, there happened along a short rumble of student action over various ideas and issues. It this direction leading to a better realization of conditions or possible improvements or just to "let off some steam?" Maybe if the student government and body became activated together, we'll have sparked a small renaissance of educational ideas and methods. More people, including students, faculty and the community, should realize that the world is so much more education to offer than that which is found stored in a four-walled classroom and the textbook. People tend to remember better the learning experiences related to actual life circumstances and personal interest.

We need more student interest in the mobile functions of this educational system. A greater insight can be found through understandings of what our school is trying to create in the form of students and its philosophy.

We need a say in what may very well make us or ruin us for the rest of our lives. Is our school producing students of quality or quantity? Should numerical grades be the only measure of a student's quality? There is so much more generating in our developing minds that no one can label. We must realize the need for involvement and understanding between the system, faculty and students.

There is so much more to life than can be found encased in our present educational system alone. Why not try to open it up to more in-depth education? Why not open it to better understanding of people, instead of just books and facts?

It was another exciting, close game against Friendship from which the A.C.S. girls basketball team chalked up another victory. Leading by one point at the half, the team started pulling together to give one great team effort for the win with the score 34 - 28.

High scorers for Andover were Diane Bliss with 15 points and Teresa Joyce with 12 points, while Kathy Haskins added five and Debbie Allen put in, one for two points. Friendship's high scorer was Riehle with 14 points.

This win brought the season record to 5 - 0 and the league record to 2 - 0. Last Monday, January 27, Andover dumped Whitesville for the first league win with the score 43 - 21 and defeated Bolivar, January 24 with a score of 50 - 31.

We've got one fantastic team and they're coming on strong. The next game is non-league against Whitesville on Wednesday, February 5 and then they meet Whitesville again on February 10. Let's have a little support for one great team representing A.C.S.

Senior Interview

Do you realize that in only a few short months one of the nicest seniors is leaving to join the National Guard? This is true and I would like to tell you a little bit more about this special senior.

His name is Keith Chester Freeland, born to Mrs. Oliver Freeland and the late Mr. Freeland, on June 15, 1956. Keith has quite a large family including: Kary, Ken, Howard, Dave, Donna, Joyce and Phyllis.

Through these last four years of A.C.S. Keith has been active on the Library Council and his major has been Heavy Equipment and Conservation.

Keith's special hobbies have been hunting, fishing and "most outdoor sports" as he said. I asked him what he plans on doing after he graduates from Andover. He said he plans on possibly getting married, spending four years in the National Guard and then getting another job.

We all know you can do whatever you put your mind to. Keith. Good luck and take care.

Senior Interview

On December 27, 1956, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Givens gave birth to their fifth and last child, a girl, Carol Jeanne Givens. Carol, still blue-eyed, blond-haired student, was preceded by three brothers, Larry, George and Gerald and her sister, Shirley.

Carol who is noted for her sparkling smile and personality has been active for four years in the Future Nurses program. She is currently majoring at BOCES in Food Service and works part-time at the Long Vue Restaurant in Whitesville.

Carol is undecided as to her post-graduate plans, but whatever they are, Carol is sure to excel in them and the students at A.C.S. wish her the best of luck!
