To The Editor:

As some readers may already know, the writer is taking a firm and determined stand against the continued retention of the Marshall Law. The Department of Environmental Conservation, regarding implementation of the Marshall Plan to obtain flood insurance for the Village of Richburg. We sincerely feel that law offers the simplest, least restrictive, and least costly solution to the problem for our small community.

Briefly stated, the Marshall Law permits the legislation of MINIMUM FEDERAL REQUIREMENTS IN THE FLOOD HAZARD AREA ONLY — you cannot have less and comply with existing federal law. It relieves a small community of the burden of enacting comprehensive, complicated, area wide, restrictive legislation; it avoids the cost and problems of inspections and enforcement; and it eliminates the danger of possible legal entanglements and resultant substantial expenses from the community standpoint.

Contrary to some of the information that has been disseminated and despite some of the innuendoes that one hears, the Marshall Law specifically states some definite, departmental obligations of DEC. Despite that responsibility, DEC still feels local officials should legislate controls that will affect and restrict entire villages and townships, rather than the flood hazard area only that the Marshall Law provides.

A war for individual freedom and escape from political tyranny was fought 200 years ago, and unless the abuses of the present government are stopped, history may well repeat itself. Andover County has enjoyed three centuries of freedom in which the rights of man have been protected.

Many people believe that the present government is a tyranny and that the rights of man are being violated. The writer is of the opinion that the present government is a tyranny and that the rights of man are being violated.

Sincerely yours,
Dale Green

The Mayor's Column

by Mike Grace

On Tuesday evening, a meeting of the Village Planning Board was held at the Village Hall. Ken Roberts was in attendance, representing Southern Tier West Regional Planning. Questions were presented to Mr. Roberts concerning the types of needs and qualifications that would have to be met in order to successfully apply for Federal Funding of community projects — in answering the various questions, one of the main points that was emphasized was the need for demonstrated cooperation and planning between the Village and Town Governments.

"Inside The State Capital"

By James L. Emery

Although the November statewide election is still three months away, it is not too early for voters to begin considering a number of important Constitutional Amendments which will be on the ballot. These Amendments require voter approval before they can become law and this means that they have already received the approval of two successively-elected State Legislatures. All of those on the November ballot were passed by the 1974 Legislature and again in 1975 with the new Legislature which was elected last November.

It is because these Amendments carry significant consequences of one kind or another to the State's residents that they are placed before the voters, as well as the fact that the law requires that all changes in the New York State Constitution must be voted upon by the citizens of the State as well as the Legislature. I will just briefly review several of the more important of these Amendments this week, and those who have a particular interest in further information should seek it out wherever possible. If my office can be of service in this regard, we will be happy to do what we can.

One of the most important Constitutional changes would allow the State Legislature to call itself into special session with the consent of two-thirds of both the Assembly and the State Senate. This is significant because, at the present time, only the Governor of the State has the privilege of calling a special legislative session. This means that, if the Legislature or any of its members should desire to attempt to override a gubernatorial veto of a bill once the Legislature has adjourned for the year, there is no way for this to be done without a call by the Governor. This, of course, would be highly unlikely if the purpose of such a session were to attempt to override a veto.

If voters approve this Constitutional Amendment in November, the Legislature can call itself into session for this purpose or for any other legitimate reason and may also establish its own agenda for that session. Now this right is also reserved for the Governor. I might note that in my legislative questionnaire earlier this year, there was overwhelming support for such a change, and thus it is felt that this Amendment has a good chance of passage.

Another more publicized Constitutional Amendment is the E.R.A. The Equal Rights Amendment is a simply worded bill which reads: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the State of New York or any of its subdivisions, thereof, on account of sex." Supporters of E.R.A. say it is not designed to deprive anyone of anything. It is designed merely to enable individuals to achieve their full potential — and be adequately compensated — regardless of sex — whether male or female.

On the other hand — opponents claim that passage of the E.R.A. could disrupt family life and strike down legislation which has historically protected women. Both sides agree, however, that a vigorous public education drive should be mounted so that all citizens can be informed of the pros and cons of E.R.A.

Another Constitutional Amendment would reconstruct the State's courts including the creation of a Permanent Commission on Judicial Conduct. The Commission would ensure judges for misconduct in office, persistent failure to perform duties, habitual intemperance off the bench which would jeopardize the administration of justice.

Another Constitutional Amendment would allow volunteer fire departments or other charitable organizations to collect games of chance in addition to bingo or lotto. Passage of this Constitutional Amendment would enable

News That's Print To Fit

Well, folks: after a couple of 4-page papers, perhaps you have already guessed that we are faced with another "Newsprint" (paper) shortage! Yep, we ordered a year's supply over a month ago — and still haven't heard one word as to when it will be delivered. In the meantime our present stock has dwindled down to enough for just one more week; so, we are keeping our fingers crossed.

By the way, how did you like that spell of "old-fashioned" Summer weather? In fact, according to the Wellsville Water and Light Department, the mercury registered 101 degrees in Wellsville on Friday, the 1st of August at 3:45 p.m.

However, if you think that is hot — you should have been with us down at Penn State College at State College, Pa., where it was 109 Degrees Saturday — and a lot of "Square Dance Nuts" were trying to Square Dance. Actually, we only tried to dance 2 sets and when the perspiration ran down off both elbows, figured that was "enough" — although we did join in with our group for the "Grand March" Saturday evening.

Too bad this week's cool weather couldn't have been ordered for last week and everyone would have been "on the square"! We know there wouldn't have been room for all 1,600 to dance at once anyway — so you just can't win no how!

Believe it or not, we've already had several volunteers for a Vigilante group. And the first one was from down Maple St. way!

ATTENTION LIONS!

There will be a meeting of the Executive Board on Monday night, August 11, at the home of Donald Baker at 7:30 P. M.

Dinner will be served at 5:30 with broiled New York Strip Steak as the main entry together with corn-on-the-cob; tossed salad; relishes; rolls and coffee. All kinds of beverages will be available.

Lion Zeke Shellman, Chairman, states that he will have the tickets available the first week in August but reservations can be made with him prior to that time.

Many charitable and benevolent associations to raise adequate funding to conduct the important community-interest programs which they foster.

The office of Assemblyman James L. Emery (R-Gesess) announced his schedule for the week beginning August 7, 1975.
