Initial rehearsals are scheduled for 7 p. m., June 20, 21, and 22 in the campus music center at Alfred State Agricultural and Technical College, according to Joseph Canale, band director.

He said membership in the summer band is open to area junior and senior high school students as well as adults. There are no auditions, and some instruments are available for those who may not have their own, he noted.

Additional rehearsals are scheduled for June 27, 28 and 29 at the same time and location.

The first concert is set for 7 p. m., Wednesday July 5, on the lawn in the Alfred Village Square. The program will feature American patriotic music.

There is no admission charge for the outdoor concerts to which listeners are invited to bring blankets and lawn chairs for seating.
