Principal and Mrs. Donald Gooley and family, have returned from a vacation. He published the August Newsletter this week. The Board has appointed Mr. William Domm of Naples, as instrumental music teacher, to replace Scott Kickbush who resigned after five years, to go to the Naples Central School. Mr. Domm is a 1978 graduate of Houghton College, and did his student teaching at Dansville Central School. He was very active in music groups at Houghton.

Principal Gooley enjoyed his first year in our school, and was pleased with the cooperation from parents and students. It is through effective home-school communications and cooperation, that goals for the children can be achieved. With the Board of Education, the curriculum for the coming school year is improved by adding Math 12, Social Studies 12, and an electric course in Industrial Arts. Driver Education will be offered to Juniors and Seniors. The Title I Reading Program is again scheduled. The application, regulations and guidelines and needs assessment for the 1978-79 project, may be inspected in the school office. The program will help students in grades 1-6 that are having reading difficulties, but show they can benefit from additional instruction. Anyone interested in serving on an Advisory Committee or have questions about the Reading Program, contact Miss Anderson.

The Library thanks those who have donated magazines. Chris Harkenrider gave several issues of Basketball Digest. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Murray and family gave the book "Stories of the Kanister Valley" by William ... in memory of their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Murray Hillman. Mr. Hugh Lamphier and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Lamphier and family, gave the book, "Treasures in America" in memory of Mr. Harold Smith (Mrs. Tom Harkenrider's father).

The Summer Program at school was well attended and successful. Many thanks to June Sekoll for nutrition, sponsored by Steuben County Cooperative Extension. More than 30 children were involved Tuesdays and Thursdays. They learned the basic concepts of nutrition with Miss Basic Flour and Mr. Caffeine (Vitamins C, A and Minerals Calcium and Iron). Jamie Hammel and Anna Sekoll assisted. Janine Hammel Arts and Crafts mornings; Ernie Kura tom, Baseball; Paul Forham Basketball; Susie Hunt Swimming Life Guard and Instructor, afternoons; and Scott Kickbush, Music. He had individual pupils and three parades with the Marching Band that took two second prizes and one first.

An application and eligibility standards were included for families applying for free or reduced price lunches. Guidelines for school food administrators may consider both the income of the family the past 12 months, and the families current rate of income to determine which is the better indicator of need. Applications may be brought to the school when the students come for Soccer Physicals August 14-15-16, or by September, the first day of school.

Physicals will be August 17 for Bus Drivers and Cafeteria workers. New School Telephone Numbers are 225-4292, Bus Garage 225-4606.

For the first time Andover's Main Street will be properly decorated with Christmas Lights this year, due to the efforts of the Andover Exchange Club, backed by the subscriptions from business men and a few patriotic individuals. The work now building the string of lights that will be placed from Elm to Dyke Street, is progressing nicely and will be ready to be strung up in a few days. Besides the labor, mostly contributed by members of the Exchange Club the cost of this display will be around $150, but the property once installed, will be good for many years to come and in the property of those who contributed to its purpose. So far $125.00 has been contributed and the rest of the funds should be raised soon.

"Inside The State Capital"

By James L. Emery

A number of weeks ago, I noted that Assembly Republican Leader Perry Durfee and I had introduced a package of three bills to sharply limit tax increases in New York State.

Today, weeks later, I must report to you that these very same bills, mysteriously, have never been printed. This is most curious since other bills introduced after our tax limiting measures were printed almost immediately.

The facts are these. On July 13, the bills were properly filed with the Assembly clerks. It was our hope, the bills could be printed and ready for consideration whenever the Legislature reconvened to take up its unfinished legislative business.

On August 1, we took notice that the tax limiting measures still had not been printed and the Legislature was scheduled to reconvene on August 8. We further noticed that bills introduced after ours had been printed. In fact, one bill filed on July 24 was printed on July 26.

The question is — What is holding up the Durfee-Emery tax limitation measures?

The three bills currently being held hostage in the Assembly are: (1) designed to put the brakes on state and local tax increases, (2) to begin a process of reexamination of state mandates which have forced local taxes to increase even higher and (3) to amend the State Constitution to require two-thirds majority for the approval of any new taxes or increases in rates of existing taxes.

These tax limiting measures when tied to our proposal for a 20 per cent, $2.2 billion tax cut, constitute a hard-hitting and responsible approach to cap and reverse the state's tax and spend spiral.

But now we find these tax limiting measures, introduced by Republicans, curiously held up by the State Assembly, which is controlled by Governor Carey's New York City Democrat colleagues.

Permanent tax reduction, coupled with tight state expenditure controls are exactly what is needed to rebuild a sound New York State economy. I sincerely hope that politics is not blocking the chances for enacting these necessary measures.

Fordyce, and a former Andover resident, were married Thanksgiving Day, November 27.

Miss Esther Ann Fanton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fanton of Wellsville, and Louis Sherwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sherwood of Andover, were married November 27.

James J. Dagon, 51, a Funeral Director in Hornell, died November 26. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nellie Walsh Dagon, formerly of Andover, two daughters, Lucy Ellen and Joan Marie and one son, James J., all at home. Burial was in St. Ann's Cemetery.

Mrs. Ray (Maggie Mae) Loucke died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Luke Dougherty of Wellsville on December 2. She was born June 24, 1886 in Sabinsville, Pa., a daughter of Samuel and Alice Stevens Hulst. On November 24, 1903 she married Ray Loucke, who survives with three daughters, Mrs. Dougherty, Mrs. George Blank of Andover, Mrs. David Elsworth of Port Allegany, one son, Claude of Andover and one sister, Mrs. Floyd Smith of Flushing, Michigan. Burial was in Ulysses, Pa.

Eira G. Hall of North Tonawanda, a former Andover resident, died December 1. He was born in Troupsburg, 67 years ago. He is survived by his widow Mrs. Harriett Hall, one daughter, Mrs. F. Harold Rapp of Snyder, one brother, Osher Hall of Rochester and two sisters, Mrs. Ellen Gelsler of Hornell and Mrs. R. J. Cook of Andover. Burial was in the Hornell Rural Cemetery.
